

Ultra-modern Communication Now Available in Newton

Newton began this week to receive the benefits of the new era of ultra-modern communications. At 6:45 a.m. Tuesday lines from the local telegraph office were cut into the world's first automatic selective switching center at Boston, it was announced by Albert J. Graham, Newton, Western Union manager.

The $2,000,000 transmission center at Boston features an entirely new "electrical brain" which eliminates manual retransmission of telegrams. Local telegraph operators in Newtonville and other points in a six-state area will control the "brain" by merely typing out "call letters" on their typewriter-like key-boards. By the new method of "selective switching," for which they have been specially trained, the operators will have at their fingertips circuits connecting with every telegraph center in the country.

Until this week, telegrams to and from the Newtons were subject to manual relaying at Boston where they were sorted by routing clerks and carried by girls to operators, who retyped them to another relay center on to their destinations.

Now these time-consuming steps have been eliminated. The Newtonville operator transmitting a telegram controls the routing to any part of the country by merely typing two "call letters" at the beginning of the message. These call letters will cause the electrical brain of the switching center at Boston to select the proper circuit and automatically flash the telegram on to its destination.

In the case of a telegram addressed to San Francisco, for example, the Newtonville operator will type the letters "SF," representing the destination, on her typewriter-like keyboard before proceeding with the telegram itself. As the message flashes over a direct wire to the switching center at Boston, the electrical brain checks the call letters and an identifying message number to insure their accuracy, automatically selects the San Francisco wire and flashes the telegram to that city where it is received in finished form ready for delivery.

Incoming telegrams for the Newtons will be received at the Boston switching center on a telegraph device known as a printer perforator which simultaneously prints the telegrams and punches combinations of holes on a paper tape. Switching clerks, seeing the destination on the tape, will touch push-buttons marked Newton. The pressing of a button will cause the perforated tape to run through a transmitter which will automatically transmit the message to this city.

Buildings Purchased By Raytheon Mfg. Co. In Waltham

Raytheon Manufacturing Company has purchased at a cost of $1,082,300 certain Government facilities constructed during the war at Waltham, Mass.

The facilities include four major and several minor buildings containing approximately 348,000 square feet of manufacturing, engineering, and storage space, including the war-built power tube building. The equipment comprises specialized power tube manufacturing and testing facilities, as well as standard machinery, engineering and office equipment.

Terms of sale require Raytheon to give the United States a 20 year right temporarily to take over the facilities, if needed for national defense purposes. This right may be exercised, however, only if Raytheon is unwilling or unable to do the work for which the facilities are needed.

C. Evan Johnson Is Rotary Club Speaker

The speaker Monday at the meeting of the Rotary Club was C. Evan Johnson, commissioner of recreation, City of Newton.

Mr. Johnson described the general conduct of his department, its goals and problems, which he divided into four sections.

He described the present set-up in saying that there are six members elected by the voters which make up the ruling body, and he is commissioner with three full time supervisors under him and a staff of 15 to 20 part time directors. That is further embellished with 60 to 70 part time workers.

In Newton, the present program consists of basketball, soft ball, baseball, swimming and skating. The program is carried on at 20 playgrounds and two swimming areas, Crystal Lake and Auburndale. He described the other two which are supposed to be in order, in deplorable condition. One of these is Ellison Park, Newton Upper Falls.

Cleaning up the Charles River by state legislative action would be an important step to all cities which line the banks, including Waltham and Watertown and other cities, which in turn would give us much better swimming than we now have. He said the aims for the department include bringing recreation to every person in Newton from childhood to old age, and if you don't believe that, we have plenty of 60 year olders playing badminton.

He described the Halloween parties taking care of 10,000 youngsters, and known all over the country for its effectiveness. He emphasized the fact of close co-ordination between schools and the recreation department, and he called upon parents to co-operate in order to make the program more effective.

Another Exclusive Feature

It is the policy of the Graphic to make its subscribers' needs its first concern. Therefore, we will publish BABSON'S Authentic Statement each week, exclusive to The Graphic.

Roger W. Babson has a record of giving factual and accurate information and advice. His prediction of the 1929 Stock Market Crash, his Year-End Business and Financial Outlooks and his forecasts of the ending of the European and Japanese phases of the war are concrete illustrations of his uncanny alertness to conditions and trends.

He will discuss business and investments, jobs and wages, land and buildings, living costs and retail trade and other topics of the day.

The views of this man whose keen business judgment is tempered with an awareness of a dependence on a Higher Authority are of inestimable value.

They Are Going Back To School

Window displays in shopping districts are reminding us that school bells will be ringing soon.

In Massachusetts approximately 400,000 boys and girls will enroll in its public schools. Nearly 20,000 of these will enter school for the first time, thereby overcrowding the already packed first two grades.

Unfortunately some communities did not read the "hand-writing on the wall" and consequently failed to provide adequate housing and teaching staffs for their children.

During the war years the birth rate of the state increased so that by 1954 the enrollment in our schools will have increased from 400,000 to 522,000. This means that we must produce about 5,000 teachers during the next six years.

Unless we take a keen interest in the schools of our Commonwealth and encourage top-ranking young people to enter the profession, this need will not be met. Unless we see to it that good schools are built, unless we carry our full share of the community's responsibilities to its schools, we shall, like the phoenix, have to spring from the ashes of our neglect to meet the demands of our unpreparedness. To act now is economic and social common sense.

We cannot afford to cheat our children of the full share of the education they deserve by tolerating low standards of education — shortages of well-qualified teachers and inadequate equipment. We must face the facts. Our children are going back to school. Have we checked to know what they are going back to? Are they returning to safe, well-equipped buildings? Are there enough teachers so that each child may receive his full share of attention? Are the teachers' salaries sufficiently high enough to encourage the carefully trained teacher to remain within the system?

We can no longer dream about good conditions; we must take action, for good schools don't just grow — they are the result of careful planning. Good will and good ideas are not enough. Skill, experience, vision, leadership, are needed.

Children are going back to school. The kind of an education they will receive depends on what we do about it.

Do we care?

Take It Easy and Live

"Take it easy and live," is good advice given by the Boston Automobile Club, affiliate of the American Automobile Association, to the 25,000,000 motorists who will be driving their cars during the long, Labor Day week-end.

Hundreds of motorists and pedestrians are needlessly killed and injured every year from Friday to Tuesday of this holiday. Careful, safe driving on the streets and highways, especially when patience is wearing thin with stop-and-go, bumper-to-bumper traffic, will help save lives and make this a pleasanter holiday.

Suggestions for holiday week-end driving include: don't weave in and out of traffic lanes; avoid passing on curves and hills; if you are tired, pull up to the side of the road and rest; if you have been drinking, don't drive; don't speed, but "take it easy."

Should They Have Cars Alone?

Thousands of our children today are being killed by too indulgent parents. Boys and girls tease their parents to learn to drive the car and then soon after they want the car alone. In all cases they put on quite a campaign to sell the parents on the idea.

It is but natural for any parent to want his child to have as much as any other child, but what the parent has failed to consider is that other parents are in the same boat. The children with a hurt attitude point out that Jimmie's parents allow him the car and it makes them look childish not to be given the same privileges.

What happens? You see it every day on the highways. Youngsters who are at the "show-off" age load the car with others and attempt to impress them with their driving skill in cutting out of traffic, speeding around corners, ignoring traffic laws, etc. We don't say that every boy or girl acts in this manner but it is true in the majority of cases and nobody is at fault but the parent. If these children were guided in their driving by the parents and not allowed to take the car alone until they had proved their judgment was good, there would be less fatalities and broken bodies.

This is a good question to bring out in the open and the Graphic invites the comments of parents and children on the subject.

THE POLITICAL POT

Mass. Primary Campaign to Be One of Shortest Ever . . . Little or No Interest in Primary Until After Labor Day . . . Major State Fight Between Rowe and Bradford

The primary campaign for party nominations will be one of the shortest in Massachusetts political history, the Truman-Dewey Presidential fight one of the longest and bitterest.

President Truman and Governor Dewey will swing into action with Labor Day speeches next Monday that will officially mark the opening of their bids for election, and such other prominent figures as Secretary of Labor Maurice J. Tobin will move onto public platforms at key places across the country to fire the opening Democratic volleys.

At the same time the men and women seeking Democratic and Republican endorsements in the Bay State will speed their campaigns into high gear and try to crowd as much vote-getting action as possible into a hectic eight-day period.

Because Labor Day falls late and the primary date comes comparatively early, the candidates for party nominations have found themselves the victims of a calendar squeeze, with little they could do about the situation other than to mark time.

Most experienced politicians recognize that few voters other than the politically minded pay much attention to primary campaigns until after Labor Day and that the politically minded usually aren't swayed by oratory or appeals.

Some of the contenders for State-wide offices have tried to pick up what votes they could at outings, picnics and clam-bakes. But there's no evidence that any of them have made any real headway. A few of the contestants in local fights have attempted house-to-house canvasses. Otherwise, in the past few weeks, it has been merely a case of waiting until the people were ready to think about politics.

From the standpoint of State politics, the major fight to be decided a week from next Tuesday will be the battle between Governor Robert F. Bradford and State Senator Edward M. Rowe of Cambridge for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, and that's merely a question of watching the size of the vote polled by Rowe to see if it will indicate any real weakness in Bradford's candidacy for reelection.

There's no reason to believe Rowe can defeat Bradford in a Republican primary and while nothing is certain in politics it would be a terrific upset if Bradford were denied renomination by his party for a second term.

Rowe, however, may roll up a substantial vote. No Governor ever satisfies all the groups and factions within his party. And aside from the G.O.P. voters who for one reason or another are dissatisfied with some phase of the Bradford administration, the fight within the Massachusetts delegation at the Republican national convention left wounds that haven't yet entirely healed.

A former member of the Harvard College faculty, Rowe is an excellent speaker who possesses considerable ability, and if Bradford were not occupying the Governorship the Cambridge Senator might be able to give him a real fight for the nomination.

Except in unusual circumstances or unless they have some strong grievance, however, Republican voters are not disposed to deny renomination to a member of their party who is holding public office, and for that reason Bradford is likely to carry most sections of the State in the Sept. 14 primary.

The Tobin-Dever fight that was beginning to kindle great Democratic enthusiasm was, of course, written off when former Governor Tobin became Secretary of Labor and made his appeal for the nomination and election of Dever.

Dever undoubtedly will be nominated, but there will be considerable interest in the size of the vote polled by Tobin despite his own pronouncements on Dever's behalf. Since Tobin's name will appear on the ballot, it is within the realm of possibility that he might be nominated, though that possibility is so remote as to be almost non-existent. But Tobin is likely to draw a fair complimentary vote, and political experts are almost certain to compare the vote totals received by Rowe and Tobin, even though one is appealing for public support while the other is asking his friends not to vote for him.

Weeks-Lawson Fight Flares Out Again

It was inevitable that a fight would flare within the Republican ranks between Douglas Lawson of the Back Bay, former president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts and a candidate for the G.O.P. nomination for State Auditor, and National Committeeman Sinclair Weeks, his one-time mentor.

Weeks is the king-maker and money-raiser of the Republican party in Massachusetts. He usually hand-picks the men who will fill the key places in the G.O.P. councils, and he comes pretty close to being the Republican boss of the Bay State. At least he was prior to the G.O.P. national convention.

At the Philadelphia convention, the real fight for the control of the Massachusetts vote was waged by Governor Bradford and Weeks, with such figures as Speaker Martin and Senators Lodge and Saltonstall pushed completely into the background.

Martin had two or three delegates ready to follow his bidding, and Lodge had a similar number. The rest were divided between Bradford and Weeks. Saltonstall, as a matter of cold fact, was not one of the delegation's leaders and as far as could be ascertained made no real attempt to influence anyone.

On the showdown, Bradford was able to muster about as much strength as Weeks, Lodge and Martin combined, though the fight didn't offer a real test of the respective power of Bradford and Weeks because the Governor was riding with the leading and winning candidate and Weeks was primarily interested in organizing a stop-Dewey movement, even joining forces with his old political foe, Senator Lodge, in an attempt to do it.

Some months before the convention Weeks virtually dictated the election of the chairman of the Republican State Committee and the president of the Republican Club of Massachusetts. Originally, Weeks had placed Lawson in the presidency of the latter organization and then reelected him to a second term.

Lawson, who is both independent and energetic, had some ideas of his own, and in the process of putting them into operation he precipitated a knock-down fight within the club, causing one faction to line up against him when he sought reelection to a third term. Lawson probably would have won his fight had not Weeks taken a hand and swung the necessary votes to cause his defeat, arousing bitter feeling in the process.

Now Lawson is one of the principals in a four-cornered race for the Republican nomination for State Auditor and the right to run against Thomas J. Buckley in November, with Mayor Edwin L. Olander of Northampton, former Auditor Russell Wood of Cambridge and Wallace Stearns of the Back Bay the other candidates.

Olander, a colorful young veteran of World War II, who is regarded as one of the brightest of the new Republican prospects, was a delegate to the G.O.P. national convention and took no part in the pulling and hauling between Bradford and Weeks.

He was a staunch supporter and admirer of former Governor Stassen, and the fact that he was the only Stassen booster in the Bay State contingent left him undisturbed. He cast his first two ballots for Stassen, resisting all efforts to draw him onto the Dewey bandwagon until the third ballot when the New York Governor was unanimously nominated. That satisfied Weeks, even though Olander was not particularly concerned about his feelings.

Weeks and some other members of the Republican high command have been quietly endeavoring to assist Olander in his quest for the nomination for State Auditor, feeling that his presence on the State ticket in November would aid the G.O.P. cause.

Lawson brought the behind-the-scenes campaign for Olander out into the open the other day with a ringing blast at Committeeman Weeks, but a number of Republican politicians have discovered from bitter experience that an attack upon Weeks usually does them more harm than it does Weeks.

If it were not for the activity by Weeks and a few other G.O.P. leaders Lawson would probably win the nomination because the bulk of the Republican vote will be cast in eastern Massachusetts, and Lawson, a good campaigner, has considerable support not only in Greater Boston but in other parts of the State as well.

It will be interesting to see whether Weeks and other Re-

Newton In The Past

55 YEARS AGO

EDITORIAL—The tax rate and the valuation of the city for 1893 is now announced, the assessors having been delayed chiefly by the very thorough manner in which they have gone over the city looking up values and searching for personal property and also by the fact that so many new members were placed on the board. The tax rate will be $14.80, an increase of only 20 cents over last year, and most people will feel relieved that it is not greater, owing to the extraordinary expense for sewerage and other matters. The rate will compare very favorably with that of other suburban towns who have nothing near the public conveniences that Newton possesses.

"A trolley ride Around the World" is announced for the evening of Tuesday, September 6. A beautifully decorated car illuminated with colored lights will leave Nonantum Square at 6:40 and pass over the various lines of street railroads in the city. Tickets at 30 cents each may be obtained at Hudson's Drug Store or of the conductors of the Wellesley and Boston cars.

NEWTON CENTRE—About 11 o'clock last Friday night a long line of war horses were noticed on Pelham street. On investigation it was found that Samuel A. Walker, of the Civil War, was entertaining some 75 of the National Lancers who were on their way to encampment at Framingham.

NEWTON UPPER FALLS—The Boston Transcript says: "If you desire to talk to a sensible person and to hear a sensible person talk, go to Echo Bridge, Newton Upper Falls. You can there talk to yourself until you can talk no more."

publican chieftains are successful in boosting Olander into the nomination for State Auditor for if the young Northampton Mayor should be elected Auditor next November he'd be one of the Republicans to watch as a prospective candidate for Governor two or four years hence.

One of the accusations hurled at Weeks by Lawson was that the national committeeman is sabotaging Governor Bradford's campaign. But while there has been considerable speculation as to how far Weeks is likely to go in his efforts to raise money for Bradford this fall, in view of their falling-out at Philadelphia, there actually is no reason yet to believe that Weeks will be either off the reservation or sulking in his tent when the political chips are down.

Kelly Involved in Lively Primary Fight

Among the lively primary contests will be the fight waged between former Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly, Representative Enrico Cappucci of East Boston and Representative Patrick Gilbert Sullivan of Dorchester for the Democratic nomination for Attorney General. Cappucci may well be the dark horse to watch in that race.

Kelly was the Democratic nominee for Attorney General in both 1944 and 1946, and he's a potent candidate in a Democratic primary. His name has been on the ballot so many times that he is well known to the voters, and he has a following of his own across the State. Long a controversial figure, Kelly has been both warmly commended and harshly condemned for his persistent fight for the establishment of a State lottery.

Sullivan and Cappucci are both veteran legislators with good public records. Cappucci is extremely well liked by those who know him. He has been one of Mayor Curley's active backers for a number of years. He'll draw a big Italian vote, will receive the support of many Curley followers and will get a helping hand from many of the legislators with whom he served.

It's a contest that hasn't yet developed to the point where it's possible to forecast its outcome, and it may be decided by developments during the next 10 days.

JUST TALKS

by Harry A. Belyea

Editors always have an ace when news is scarce. They just dig up a scientist to make a statement on the possibility of Mars being inhabited and a future invasion of the world. It makes nice reading.

However, I wonder how long such an invasion would last before the invaders either fled in fear of earth maniacs or were driven completely berserk by our inconsistencies. For example, if you bet with a friend or "bookie" on the result of any "bangtail 'rhubarb,'" you're a criminal and so is he. However, if you go to racetracks and lay down your folding money against the state controlled pari-mutuels, you are a "sportsman." Or let's take the good old state of Maine.

A few years back the Gendarmes would clamp you in the clink if they caught you buying or selling liquor in the Pine Tree State. But now dear children, the state will sell you liquor and courteously thank you for your purchase. Hmmm, that brings up the potato situation. You can buy U. S. number one Maine potatoes for family consumption at a cost of 69 cents for ten pounds. However, if you prove the potatoes are for consumption by cattle the price will be only 50 cents per hundred pounds through the government. (my goodness, this gets worse and worse).

If you own a home with an apartment to rent you are not only a land lord but other things as well. No matter how good a reason you have for the eviction of an obnoxious tenant, you haven't a prayer for redress without a great deal of head-aches, court trials and loss of money. On the other hand if you are in the business of renting houses, especially to G. I.'s, or those in unfortunate circumstances, you simply kick 'em out on the sidewalk. Of course we could go into foreign affairs and REALLY create a mental chaos.

So dear children, never fear invasion from any planet. We have a natural defense in our strange way of life.

Vets May Enlist For Assignment As Military Escorts

Qualified veterans of Dedham may enlist for special assignment as military escorts for the return of World War-2 dead by applying at the Norwood Post Office, according to an announcement by Sgt. Jack Oakes, local U. S. Army and U. S. Air Force Recruiting Officer.

Because of the high purpose and solemn dignity implicit in the military honors accorded our servicemen who died in action, only veterans of the highest personal qualifications will be considered for escort duty. These men serve as the official representatives of the nation's Armed Forces to the next of kin and home communities of the war dead. Those who are accepted for this patriotic responsibility must have sufficient independent initiative to carry out their task with tact and judgment.

Accepted applicants will be assigned to one of the two Distribution Centers for the First Army Area, at the New York Port of Embarkation, Brooklyn, New York, and at Schoenectady, New York. This assignment is for a minimum of one year. Applicants may select the Distribution Center to which they wish

Babson Discusses The White Collar Worker —

Babson Authentic Statement. Copyright 1948. Publishers' Financial Bureau, Incorporated

I have been concerned recently, while vacationing here on Cape Ann, about the plight of the white collar worker. Of course, I sometimes wear a white collar myself, but the man for whom I am concerned is the man who is neither labor nor management. He works for somebody and he wears a white collar. That is expected of him, — he has to maintain the dignity of his position and besides, working in an office, he can wear it.

SALARIES RISE SLOWLY
Lately, it begins to look as if wearing a white collar, like virtue, would have to be its own reward. While labor's wages have been mounting hand over fist and while costs of living have been going up fast or faster, salaries have remained stationary or inched up by imperceptible degrees.

It is true that the poorest paid office worker at present gets a weekly stipend which would have looked like a mountain of wealth to his grandfather. This means nothing, however, except that there has been a slow, persistent inflation for the past 50 years. The 40 dollars per week which this year's college graduates hope to get will not go much further than the 10 dollars per week which I got when graduating from Massachusetts Institute of Technology in 1898. Moreover, this generation wants a good deal more than I ever dreamed of.

STANDARDS MUST BE MAINTAINED
But should we cut back our standard of living to that of my youth? It would be fantastic to think of taking away from the white collar families their automobiles, their washing machines, or their children's chance to finish school. But a reduction of the living standard will follow unless salaries and prices are brought into line one way or the other.

We cannot afford to let down the standards of any group of people in this country. For our own good, for our country's good, and for the good of the world, we need to keep moving forward. The white collar group is comparatively small. When I say "white collar man," you probably think of a mild little man who looks like a cartoonist's idea of John Q. Public and who works in an office, turning over papers, dictating an occasional letter, or entering figures in a big ledger.

You're right; he's the man I have in mind. But he is important. In the first place, business couldn't run without him any more than a steel mill could run without coal. An express company doesn't get very big before it needs a bookkeeper as well as some truck drivers. A railroad needs cost accountants as well as engineers.

In the second place, from this group come many of our leaders. These are the men who are qualified, by natural ability and by training in high school and college, to work with their heads instead of their hands. We need more and better executives, men with both wisdom and knowledge. These leaders ordinarily come up from the offices rather than from the pick and shovel jobs. It is imperative that the very best be encouraged to get the necessary training and to make their way through the white collar ranks to the top. Remember, from the white collar families come the ministers, teachers, scientists, artists, physicians, lawyers and newspaper men upon whom we depend for leadership everywhere.

It is vital that there should be greater incentive for well-trained and able men to become important executives. If our economic setup does not make it possible for the men behind the desks to compete, as to pay, with the men behind the machines, what will be the incentive for qualified men to spend years and money on their executive training?

Labor, through the unions, has been doing pretty well for its own. It's time now for management to give thought to the men on its team.

assigned before they enlist according to Sgt. Oakes.

The rank at which applicants for escort duty may enlist will be determined by prior service and personal qualifications.

War II and would like to buy a home. Where do I go to get a guaranteed home loan?

A—You must find a bank, savings and loan association or other private lender willing to make a loan.

Q—How much can I borrow to come within the provisions of the GI Bill?

A—The law sets no limit on the amount borrowed. The limit is on the amount of guaranty. You may borrow any amount that the lender is willing to let you have, but the maximum VA guarantee is $4,000 on a home or real-estate loan or $2,000 on a business loan.

Q—Must I have experience in the line of business I wish to enter to get a guaranteed business loan?

A—Experience is an important element in the success of the average business. The veteran must be able to show a reasonable expectation of success in his venture.

Q—Do I have to devote my own time to the business in order to get a GI business loan guaranteed?

A—Yes. You must devote your personal time to your business. This may be done on a full-time or part-time basis.

Do You Know Massachusetts?

DO YOU KNOW THAT . . . Income received by individuals in Massachusetts during 1947, before taxes, was $6,718,000,000. The average per person was $1,449, an increase of 4% over 1946 and 101% over the prewar year 1939, as estimated by the United States Department of Commerce . . . Of the total income, $4,536 million was in wages and salaries, $952 million from business profits and $488 million from other sources . . . Manufacturing concerns in Massachusetts that are important users of steel as raw material in 1946 employed more than 160,000 wage earners and made products valued about 1 1/4 billion dollars, in addition to which the construction industry and the public utilities also are large steel consumers . . . Edgar Allen Poe's story, "The Cask of Amontillado," was based on an actual case that occurred on Castle Island in Boston Harbor in 1817 when the duelist murderer of Lt. Robert F. Massie was similarly walled in by indignant fellow officers. Poe learned the secret some ten years later as an enlisted man there, but never divulged it . . . Of the 1,282 dwelling units for which building permits were issued in 68 Massachusetts cities and towns during July, 152 were in Newton, 108 in Worcester, 77 in Boston, 57 in Springfield, 54 in Natick and 40 in Lexington, as reported by Department of Labor and Industries . . . The Town of Stoughton has appointed a special committee to prepare a comprehensive zoning bylaw to guide the future development of the community.

14,000 Vets Reinstate Their GI Insurance

More than 14,000 Bay State Veterans reinstated $87,420,000 worth of National Service Life Insurance during the month of July, thereby taking advantage of the "no physical exam" reinstatement provision which expired July 31, 1948.

According to Walter V. Robinson, insurance officer for the Boston Regional Office of the VA, the average policy reinstated was for $6,000.

VA officials of the Boston Regional Office attributed the tremendous response of Massachusetts veterans to this opportunity to hold on to their GI insurance, to the excellent cooperation of the press and radio stations in Massachusetts. These agencies provided a real public service to veterans and their families by giving widespread publicity to the essential facts incident to reinstatement.

LETTERBOX

Advocates For Re-nomination Of Senator Lee

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I am exceedingly surprised that a group within our own Republican party is making a strenuous effort to unseat Senator Richard H. Lee.

It is my sincere belief that this action on their part is, to say the least, ill-advised and definitely not in the best interests of either Newton or the Commonwealth.

I have made an unbiased survey of Richard Lee's record, covering nearly two years in the Senate, and find that more than 95 percent of his voting has been well considered, discriminating and for the ultimate good of our City and State.

Newton has never been, in my opinion, more ably represented in our upper house. Furthermore, the experts who follow the business of that body unanimously regard Richard Lee as one of Massachusetts' three top senators.

I earnestly hope that the Republican voters of our community will closely and intelligently scan Senator Lee's outstanding record. If they will do so, I am sure their findings will unquestionably prompt them to cast their votes for him and so assure the continuance of the valuable services he has been rendering Newton and the State.

ROY S. EDWARDS,
29 Crafts St., Newtonville

On Politics in Newton

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I deplore certain recent tendencies in Newton politics. At the turn of the century I was for many years a member of the Republican City Committee, and served six years in the Board of Aldermen, the last two years as president, and then offered the nomination as State Representative, which I declined as I had to practice law to earn a living. I therefore think I know what went on 40 years ago.

The City Committee never interfered in a primary contest, and it was a governing principle then that a diligent office holder was entitled to renomination if he wanted it, and that without a contest, on the theory that "One Good Term Deserves Another." We found that in this way better men could be induced to run for office and the public had better service. This is especially true in the Legislature where seniority is so important.

Senator Lee began life as a poor boy and worked his way through Bowdoin college and the Harvard Law school, was admitted to the bar and practiced law and was elected to the Board of Aldermen. When the World War began he resigned from the board and enlisted in the Army although as a married man with a family of his age he could not be drafted. Mr. Gibbs, a younger man in the same situation, took his place in the Board of Aldermen. When Senator Lee returned from the war, out of deference to Mr. Gibbs and to the principle that an office holder should not be disturbed, he did not try to oust Mr. Gibbs and resume his old place in the Board of Aldermen.

Senator Lee had a remarkable military record. He enlisted as a private and finished as a colonel, after taking part in the Normandy and German invasions under General Patton, as a combat officer.

Senator Lee has an outstanding record as a senator, diligently attending sessions and committee hearings and favoring various bills for the protection of the ordinary citizen which have made him powerful enemies. He introduced bills for the sale of colored oleomargarine, to require a referendum before allowing race tracks in towns, for the enrichment of flour, and to adopt the merit rating for auto insurance, and all but the last of these have been passed. He has earned the confidence of his colleagues as indicated by the fact that he is a regular member of important committees and chairman of two special commissions, on public health laws and workmen's compensation. Voters who are in doubt might do well to inquire of other senators what they think of Senator Lee.

In the face of this record Mr. Gibbs is now trying to take Senator Lee's place in the Senate by personal slander under the leadership of certain members of the Republican City Committee and by illegal advertising by large signs on the public streets. These posters are illegal as Mr. Gibbs well knows as a member of the Aldermen, and he also knows that Senator Lee as a law abiding citizen cannot and will not use such methods.

A good example of the vicious type of campaign being waged against Senator Lee is that he recently gave his wife an interest in his house, whereupon the scandal mongers spread the story that he had sold his house and was moving out of town or going back into the Army, etc., etc. If these gentlemen wanted the facts they could be easily ascertained.

In my day 40 years ago our local politics were clean and decent.

What's Wrong With Old Folks?

Newton Nurse Pioneers
New Idea in Nursing Homes

Basing her ideas on the premise that old folks are not naturally difficult to get along with, Katherine Kerr Carroll of Newton has created an innovation in nursing homes. Said Mrs. Carroll, "Old people in their declining years get the idea that they are no longer needed by their families. They seem to feel they are useless because their responsibilities of home building are at an end. It is one of our jobs to make these people see that they ARE needed. Our success in this work is proved by the marvelous physical and mental response of our patients. Another important thing is the homelike atmosphere that gets away from the stiffness and strict rules of the ordinary rest home. We are now arranging for an occupational therapist to visit the patients twice weekly to teach them various arts and crafts. This is most important to the patient's rehabilitation both physically and mentally. Our registered nurses were selected not only because of their wide experience in the treatment of chronic and acute disease but for their keen understanding of human nature. Unlike many other rest homes, we are equipped for complete medical care." Naturally it is a great source of satisfaction to know that the Mt. Ida Nursing Home, 32 Newtonville Ave., Newtonville, is considered outstanding in the state. A telephone call to Bigelow 4-5735 will bring additional information about Mt. Ida Nursing Home.

PROPOSED NEW CHANDLER STORE IN BELMONT

Chandler's to Open Store in Belmont

Chandler & Company of Boston have announced plans to open their new branch store, designed by George S. McLaughlin of Boston, in Belmont, about Oct. 1.

A survey to determine the needs of the community in a branch store was undertaken by the designer and the results showed that the following departments were needed in Belmont. Basement: Gift shop, electrical appliances, draperies and curtains, radios, upholstery, linens, offices, cashiers, credit department, and layaway department.

First Floor: Handbags, underwear, gloves, cosmetics, infants, children's sportswear, sweaters and teens.

Second Floor: Furs, shoes, girdles, coats, dresses, suits, millinery and negligees.

The community interests and characteristics of Belmont were studied in order to determine a basis for store design and recommendations for merchandising.

Blanche H. Ufford

To the many friends of Mrs. Blanche H. Ufford will be grieved to hear of her passing on Aug. 27 at the Tobey Hospital in Wareham Mrs. Ufford, wife of Dr. Eugene U. Ufford, a prominent dentist for many years in Auburndale, was well known in club circles being a past president of the Review Club and a charter member of both the Auburndale Women's Club and the Acquaintance Club. For several years she was on the Christian Seal Committee for Auburndale and was active in the Girl Scout organization in that town. She was a member of the Auburndale Congregational Church. When Dr. and Mrs. Ufford took their residence in Wareham, over a year ago, and they both became affiliated with the Episcopal Church in that town.

She endeared herself to many during the short time she had lived in her recent home and will be sincerely missed by her old and new friends.

Surviving are her husband, two sons, Edward L. and James K. both of Auburndale, a daughter, Mrs. Henry Norris of Holliston and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services were held Monday afternoon at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Wareham with Rev. Franklyn Boardman officiating.

Accordingly there was suggested a design for the exterior in a simple style, in white painted brick, with the details of cornice, moldings, etc., of the Colonial period, with the store name in raised dark blue letters. The marquee is decorated with green plantings, backed by floodlights which illuminate the entire facade. The modern all-glass lower front was designed so that the passerby can see into the store itself along the entire length of the building. Columns are set back from the street six feet for uninterrupted vision. There are no columns in the store itself, allowing for an uninterrupted view of the entire area.

Chandler's is bringing a very modern and up-to-date store to Belmont which will fill a definite need in that community.

James E. Murphy: In my opinion the most important legislation at the next session of the General Court will be that of building a modern system of highways and roads, and also consideration of new methods and sources of taxation.

George E. Rawson: The enactment into law of a comprehensive highways reconstruction program, the completion of Logan Airport, for both of which I voted at the 1948 session. Further development of the Port of Boston. Settlement of Old Colony transportation problems. Economy in our State government, and a revamping of the tax structure.

John S. Whittemore: In my opinion the most important problems that should be considered during the coming session of General Court are: (1) New buildings to house and better care for the inmates of our mental and state institutions. (2) Enactment of the $100,000,000 Highway Program. (3) Taxation and the problem of cost of government.

Question: Do you favor amendment to the Mass. Constitution to permit establishment of a State graduated income tax?

Harry Gath, Jr.: Yes. I am in agreement with your state organization agenda. I am against any increase in corporation taxes and also a general sales tax.

James E. Murphy: At the present time I would say "Yes." However if some other means of raising necessary increased revenue were proposed, I might possibly favor it.

George E. Rawson: Not unless provision is made therein for taxing both earned and "unearned" income (so-called) on the same percentage basis as is done in every other state now having a graduated income tax. The measure proposed to us in '48 session did not make this provision and the proponents refused to include it. The present income tax law works great hardships on widows and retired persons.

John S. Whittemore: Further study.

Question: If not, what alternative method of raising necessary increased revenue do you favor?

Harry Gath, Jr.: I will await the Governor's recommendations.

James E. Murphy: No answer submitted.

George E. Rawson: I believe an exhaustive study should be made of our entire tax structure. "The power to tax involves the power to destroy." Real estate bears an undue burden. Present Corporation taxes are driving business out of the state. The tax on unearned income causes residents to leave the state. Our whole tax structure needs to be rearranged.

John S. Whittemore: Further study.

Boutwell Receiving Very Strong Support

The campaign for the nomination and election of Louis E. Boutwell, present High Sheriff of Middlesex County is receiving practically unanimous support from leading Republicans and Independents throughout that county. Sheriff Boutwell was appointed last year by Governor Bradford when the former Sheriff, Loring B. Kew, died suddenly.

General Boutwell is a living example of the slogan, "If you intend to have something important done, ask the busiest man you know." Years of experience as a top-flight lawyer, administrator and soldier have developed an infinite capacity for work and achievement in the Sheriff's office.

His genius for organization and direction enable him to maintain the closest executive control over the various affairs which he directs, yet leave him a calm, genial gentleman willing to lend an ear to all who come to his door. His kindly, courteous interest in other people's problems has won him a host of friends in all walks of life and it requires only a brief visit to his offices to find evidence of that fact. His visitors include laborers, civil servants, professional people, social workers, clergymen, high ranking officers and privates first class, lawyers, judges and county officials. Not a few prisoners, completing their jail terms stop in to ask the Sheriff's advice on their personal problems as they attempt to make a new start in life.

Sheriff Boutwell is fascinated by the variety of problems which come up in the course of an average day—and it is undoubtedly this keen, active interest which carries him briskly through a workday which would exhaust most men.

He sums up his philosophy in the words, "There is no greater happiness in life than the satisfaction of being able to render service to your fellow man. I have had a wonderful life in that respect—I have had great opportunities to serve and my only ambition is to keep doing so."

Sheriff Boutwell's affiliations include: Military Order of the Purple Heart, American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, National Guard Association, Boston Chamber of Commerce, New England Aero Club and many other patriotic, civic and fraternal organizations.

NEWTON FIRE DEPARTMENT

FIRE PREVENTION SERVICE

Fires don't just happen. True many are started through carelessness, but in order to have a fire three things are necessary. First, fuel of some sort, either a combustible solid or a liquid. Second, oxygen to support combustion. Third, a source of heat to ignite the fuel. If any one of these three items is lacking, fire cannot take place or continue to burn.

Heat for ignition can be supplied from several sources, such as matches, electric arcs, steam pipes, chimneys, lime in contact with moisture, rags with linseed oil, etc.

The supply of oxygen can do much to slow down or increase the fire depending on the amount available. Some materials liberate oxygen to help the burning.

The fuel, whatever it may be burns in direct proportion to its chemical composition, its supply of oxygen and the amount of heat involved.

With these facts in mind it should tend to help people realize what must be done to help prevent fires from starting and continuing to burn. Good housekeeping is of paramount importance, in every home and place of business to stop unnecessary fires. Fires can start from small hazards and develop into national disasters as well as those starting from the careless handling of dangerous materials. The start does not always mean too much. What does count is how soon the fire is discovered and extinguished and that the same mistakes are not allowed to be repeated again.

We often see fire hazards in our homes and places of business. Yes, and we work or live in them day in and day out. Because nothing serious happens after awhile they seem to be harmless. Nothing is done to correct them, we almost forget about their being there. It is when we least expect it that our 'friendly fire hazard' turns on us and shows its real colors. The time arrived when the correct fuel was provided, the oxygen supply was right and heat of some type was supplied or generated—the result is fire. Uncontrolled fires can soon destroy homes, businesses and most precious of all life itself.

How simple it might have been to have removed this fire hazard at the time that it was first discovered. Once again it is a case of too late—we didn't think it could happen to us—it never did it before. Fires do not respect anyone or anything, your home, your business, your position or your life may be just another other payment that is being given to pay for allowing fire hazards to exist.

The City of Newton has provided its residents with an efficient and modern Fire Department, one that is always ready to give service. This alone is not enough. For your own safety and that of your family and employees you should start today and eliminate the fire hazards that you find at home or in business. A community with a low fire loss is usually a prosperous one, let's all help to keep Newton safe and prosperous. The home or the life that you save—might be your own.

Helen L. Ring States Views on Candidacy

I appreciate the opportunity The Graphic extended to express my desire for nomination and election for Representative to the General Court, Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

My decision to become a candidate was the result of numerous voters requesting that I seek the nomination because of my ability, business experience, knowledge of government and politics and that at this time we need a change in the House of Representatives for a younger, active, and aggressive business woman, easily approachable, widely known and influential to be of service to all. I believe the voters should be allowed to have the opportunity to select a candidate and be privileged to choose. I have been active in local, state and federal government over a period of 20 years—business woman—well known at the State House—attending committees and speaking in interest of various important bills before committees.

Born in Lancaster, Mass., wife of veteran of World Wars I and II, mother of one son. Studied politics and government at the American University, Rome, Italy, and George Washington University, Washington, D. C. Traveled extensively in Europe and United States.

I am a member of Ward 6 Republican Committee, City of Newton Republican Committee, Massachusetts Republican Club, Business and Professional Women's Republican Club of Massachusetts, Newton League of Women Voters, Newton-Wellesley Hospital Auxiliary, District Chairman of American Red Cross, American Legion Auxiliary, Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary, worked on Community Fund, Post Air Raid Warden and various other civic duties the City of Newton required.

Former Contact Officer, and Notary Public in Veterans Administration, former Clerk in U. S. District Court. During the war was employed in U. S. Navy, INM, Boston, and U. S. Engineers, Law and Real Estate Department, San Francisco, Cal.

If nominated and elected I shall serve the people of Newton and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts faithfully, honestly and sincerely.

Exercise your rights in these critical times of World anxieties. Vote for Helen L. Ring in the Primaries Sept. 14 that my name may go on the ballot in November.

I hope that the voters will give me their generous support by nominating and electing me to represent them in the legislature for the next two years by voting in Primaries Sept. 14.

Start now on the safe, sure-saving way with U. S. Savings Bonds. In 10 years you'll have $4 to spend for every $3 you invest.

Possible Now to Buy Yellow Oleomargine

With food prices continually rising, it will be a great relief to the housewife to learn that on or after September 1st she can purchase yellow oleomargine at many stores in Massachusetts. The product which she purchases will be evenly colored and will have all of the nutritive and vitamin values to be found in butter. No longer will she have the messy job of warming the oleomargine and kneading it and then getting it back into shape for use on the table. The new product will be available at between fifty and sixty cents per pound. This will be about fourteen cents above the cost of uncolored oleomargine. The entire difference in price between colored and uncolored margarine is governed by a federal tax on the colored product, which requires a license to be paid by the dealer.

The price of butter has already fallen a few cents, and market men expect that it will drop even further to meet this competition.

This reduction in the cost of living comes as a result of legislation originated in the Massachusetts Senate by Senator Richard H. Lee (R) of Newton, and enthusiastically backed by the administration of Governor Bradford. The Governor signed the Lee Bill June 3, 1948 and it becomes effective September 1st. If federal action is taken by the next Congress, the price will be even further reduced. Housewives who have difficulty making ends meet will appreciate the work of Senator Lee and the Bradford administration in reducing the cost of a vital commodity.

Is there any way to test whether some turpentine I bought recently is good quality and clean?

Put a drop of it on a sheet of writing paper and let it dry. If it is good and pure it will evaporate completely but if it is adulterated the green in it will show.

After a humorous word game which she played with the hosts of the show, Mrs. Wolfe was given her G-E award, with the congratulations of station WCOP.

TB, prepared by the National Tuberculosis Association, has been distributed to all employees of the three city departments by the Newton Tuberculosis and Health Association. In pamphlet form, it stresses the fact that tuberculosis is an unnecessary disease. With our present medical knowledge we can completely wipe out tuberculosis, if everyone will cooperate by checking regularly with X-ray to be sure of a healthy chest and to find TB early, before symptoms start and before germs are spread to others. 50,000 Americans each year needlessly die from tuberculosis. But the disease can almost always be cured if it is discovered early enough, and if treatment is begun promptly. Rest in bed in a good sanatorium, good food, and whatever else the doctor orders for the individual needs of the patient can stop the progress of the disease and restore the patient to a normal, healthy life.

The committee working for Newton's latest X-ray project includes, as well as Dr. Morris, Superintendent Anderson, and Chiefs Purcell and Keating, the following: Mrs. Elizabeth K. Miller, Nursing Supervisor, Newton Health Department; Miss Helen D. Brievogel, Assistant Director of Health and Physical Education, Newton School Department; and Lt. Thomas P. McManus, of the Newton Fire Department.

Telegraph—

the Boston center, circuits from all other cities in the six-state area are being connected to the new system one after another over a period of four weeks.

Several hundred telegraph people, including Manager Graham, Miss Catherine McParland, Miss Mary Walsh, Mrs. Katherine Burgess, Miss Bertha Gelinas, Mrs. Nancy White, Mrs. Eleanor Ferguson, Mrs. Katherine Llanigan and Mrs. Marie Ahearn of the Newton operating staff, attended the Western Union school at Boston, where they were trained in the control of the new telegraph robot.

The capacity of the new Boston center is three times greater than former facilities, Mr. Graham explained. The installation is one of the largest in the nationwide telegraph network of fifteen high-speed switching centers fast nearing completion. It required almost a year's work by a large force of telegraph engineers and installers to complete the new system, which occupies two floors of the modern Western Union Building in Boston. The equipment, set up in aisle form, includes more than 3,000 miles of wire conductors and over a million connections.

ASTHMA

Don't let coughing, wheezing, recurring attacks of Bronchial Asthma ruin sleep and energy without trying MENDACO, which works thru the blood to reach bronchial tubes and lungs. Usually helps nature quickly remove thick, sticky mucus. Thus alleviates coughing and aids freer breathing and better sleep. Get MENDACO from druggist. Satisfaction or money back guaranteed.

MOUSETRAPS and CARDIGANS

It is said that "if a man builds a better mousetrap that the world will make a beaten path to his door, even though he build his house in the deepest woods". Of course this can be applied to any product and apparently one Newton merchant is cashing in on it. A stranger coming to Newton would become hopelessly lost if he tried to find Greenfield's store at Newton Centre. It is off the beaten path. It is located in a section that gives not the slightest hint that there is a store for blocks . . . and yet all day long cars and bikes jam the areaway adjacent to Greenfield's while their owners shop in this amazing store.

Even the store itself is unique in its layout. The circular floor plan permits one to stand at any point and see every department. One could almost shop in all departments without moving from one spot . . . and yet, there is such a variety of smart garments for ladies, children and especially teen-agers that a keen housewife would look upon Greenfield's very much as a gourmet would look upon the perfect dinner.

At this moment the store is teeming with teen-agers ready to go back to school. These youngsters are pretty sharp in their demands but there are plenty of styles to satisfy everybody. From what we hear Greenfield's sweaters this year are definitely the kind that draw triple tongue wolf whistles. Ah, to be a kid again.

"MAN" is the Lesson-Sermon subject for Sunday, September 5. GOLDEN TEXT: "Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him show out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom." (James 3:13)

"For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus . . . Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ." (Galatians 3:26; 4:7) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include: "God has endowed man with inalienable rights, among which are self-government, reason, and conscience . . . His birthright is dominion, not subjection. He is lord of the life in earth and heaven, himself subordinate alone to his Maker." (pp 106, 518)

Claim All 412 Vets Houses Can Be Completed by End of Year If Lots Are Available

More than 190 foundations, 175 concrete slabs with rough plumbing, 150 houses framed—120 with outside shingles—and 50 homes with interior walls in place, was the record of progress made by the Kelly Corporation for the first seven weeks of actual building at the Oak Hill Park veterans housing community.

The rate of production during the first weeks is now being stepped up to a point where all operations will be geared to ten houses a day, according to Joseph F. Kelly, president of the building company. "We can even increase that rate," he stated, "if the rough graded lots are made available fast enough."

The operation at Oak Hill Park is probably the only example in New England of large-scale home building where many of the materials are made right at the site. For example, a mill has been erected on the location of the projected school building where doors and door casings are being turned out at the rate of 100 a day. In another section, windows and window frames are being fashioned at an even higher rate of production.

In another part of the mill, ten rafters can be cut to size every minute, and other types of framing lumber such as sills, studs, sheathing, and roof boards are turned out at a tempo of ten houses a day.

Directing the mill operation is Forrest Henley, one of the key production men in the Kelly organization. Henley helped build the company's 200-home development called Kelynn Manor at Arlington ten years ago; and, although a carpenter by training, has adopted and helped develop the mass production methods the company now uses to speed building and reduce costs.

Probably the key man in assuring the uninterrupted production of houses is George Matheson, who sees to it that the flow of building materials, both the right kind and the proper amount is kept constant to each building site. Matheson, a supervisor long in the employ of the Kelly Corporation, knows exactly what, and how much, goes into each house; and the rapidity with which the houses are being erected indicates there's no bottleneck insofar as the supervision of materials goes.

One of the features of the homes in Oak Hill Park is the radiant heating system. This type of heat—which warms objects, rather than "cooking" the air—is a comparatively recent development and is expected by heating engineers to revolutionize heating practices. George H. MacDonald, the company's radiant heat expert, has pioneered the installation of these systems in the Braintree, Manchester, and Stoughton developments.

"The proof of radiant heat," says MacDonald, "is that we installed it in the new house we built for the boss' last year. We also equipped his house with all the other types of basic materials we're putting into the homes for Newton veterans."

MacDonald was referring to Joseph F. Kelly, president of the Kelly Corporation, himself a veteran of World War II, who last year constructed a basementless, radiant heated, one-story home in Lexington.

Cement work at Oak Hill Park is under the supervision of George Matheson, Jr. According to Matheson, foundations are being put in at the rate of ten a day.

Howard Whitmore, Jr.: Life-long resident of Newton. Graduate of the Newton Schools and Harvard College. Forty-four months' service as an officer in the Army Air Forces. Member of the Newton Community Council. Active participation in Red Cross, Salvation Army, Newton-Wellesley Hospital and Community Chest drives.

Question: Public Offices.
Helen L. Ring: Notary Public, 18 years, expired. Member Ward 6, Republican Committee, also City of Newton Republican Committee.

Margaret L. Spear: Representative to General Court since 1940.

Howard Whitmore, Jr.: Former Ward 5 Alderman-at-large, City of Newton. Member of Public Works and Finance Committees. Newton Recreation Commission member. Ward 5 Republican committee. Representative in the Massachusetts General Court, 1946-48. Clerk of the Committee on Cities.

Question: Present Occupation.

Helen L. Ring: Director, Alumet Products Company, Inc. (re-established recently).

Margaret L. Spear: Representative and home maker.

Howard Whitmore, Jr.: Associated with the investment counsel firm of John P. Chase, Inc., Boston. Assistant treasurer, Perkins Institution and Massachusetts School for the Blind in Watertown. Assistant treasurer, Home for Aged Men in Boston.

Question: What in your opinion will be the most important problems to be considered during the coming session of the General Court?

Helen L. Ring: Women for jury duty. Housing. Roads. Development of Boston. Taxes. Veterans problems. Youth Service Board.

Margaret L. Spear: Revision of tax structure. Legislation to implement Youth Service Board. Further legislation to safeguard public from sex offenders. Improved treatment of Women offenders. Improved child labor standards.

Howard Whitmore, Jr.: Taxation. Educations. Highways and transportation. Public Welfare and public institutions. Reduction of "Holding the line" in governmental expenditure.

Question: Do you favor amendment to the Massachusetts Constitution to permit establishment of a State graduated income tax?

Helen L. Ring: Matter under study.

Margaret L. Spear: Yes. I hope the commission authorized by the last session of the Legislature will recommend such an amendment.

Howard Whitmore, Jr.: I actively favored and argued for such an amendment during the last session of the Legislature in order that the present restrictive amendment might be eliminated when a full study of our tax laws with a view to their revision was undertaken. By a resolve enacted in the closing days of the session, a commission was created to undertake a two-year study concerning all problems dealing with taxation in Mass. In view of this study, I wish to await developments before again recommending the amendment to which you refer.

Question: If no, what alternative method of raising necessary increased revenue do you favor?

Helen L. Ring: I believe a committee was appointed by the Governor (recess committee) for such purpose.

Margaret L. Spear: I favor increase in taxes on horse and dog tracks, and a limited sales tax in case of extreme necessity.

Howard Whitmore, Jr.: Our present tax laws are a hodge-podge with revenue being derived from an unnecessarily large number of diverse sources. I believe the sources should be reduced in number rather than increased and wish to await the recommendations of the tax commission before advocating any single change in the tax laws.

day, with slabs going in at eight a day. Beginning the coming week, he expects the slab operation to meet the rate at which foundations are being poured.

While Forrest Henley directs the skilled mechanical operations in the on-site shops, field generalship of the framing and above-ground building activity is left to Leo Ballou, a veteran of thirty years' experience in building activities of all kinds. His work keeps him constantly roving among the almost 200 houses now in varying stages of construction.

The entire job at Oak Hill Park of course, is under the direction of Joseph Kelly and James Kelly, who have moved their entire office staff from the company's headquarters in Arlington to a temporary office building erected in the middle of the Newton Development.

According to the Kellys, it is still possible to finish all of the 412 homes by the end of the year despite the late start. "If the rough-graded lots are made available to us at our rate of production," declared James Kelly, "we can finish our part of the job by the end of the year." At the same time, he revealed that approximately 500 men were now working on the homes for Newton veterans.

A survey of other activities at the Oak Hill Park site showed that the large water main was being laid along Wiswall road, while installation of the sewer lines for the entire development is nearly completed.

Mayor's Proclamation on "Back to School"

WHEREAS the people of our City, three years after the successful conclusion of World War II, continue to face the challenge and opportunity to make the peace we have won the birthday of an era of great human advancement; and

WHEREAS our achievements in peace, even more than our achievements in war, depend in large measure on the care and education we provide all children and youth; and

WHEREAS the completion of a high school education, whatever the cost, is the minimum our City should encourage every boy and girl to attain;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor of the City of Newton, call upon all citizens to make it their personal business to encourage and enable all high school age boys and girls to enroll in school this year; and I urge our citizens to support our educational leaders in their efforts to provide an education which will prepare our young people for abundant living and responsible citizenship.

'Take It Easy And Live'

"Take it easy and live," is the advice given by the Boston Automobile Club—affiliate of the American Automobile Association—to the 25,000,000 motorists who will be driving their cars during the long, Labor Day week-end.

"Hundreds of motorists and pedestrians are needlessly killed and injured every year from Friday to Tuesday of this holiday," Club officials noted. "Careful safe driving on the streets and highways—especially when patience is wearing thin with stop-and-go, bumper-to-bumper traffic—will help save lives and make this a pleasanter holiday."

Suggestions for holiday week-end driving cited by the Boston Auto Club include: don't weave in and out of traffic lanes; avoid passing on curves and hills; if you are tired, pull up to the side of the road and rest; if you have been drinking, don't drive; don't speed, but "take it easy".

I have listened to the views of citizens, whether famous or unknown, and then voted for what I believed to be the best interests of the community rather than the dictates of any small group, no matter how powerful. I have worked to make the Republican Party more truly representative of the people as a whole and to make our laws less complicated and more fair. I have fully supported Governor Bradford's program in Housing, Boston Charter Referendum, Airport, Highways, Abolition of State Tax and Reclassification of State Jobs. I have cooperated with my colleagues on all constructive measures but I have not hesitated to disagree when I thought they were wrong. I have never opposed any measure for spite, nor resorted to malicious gossip or personalities in any contest. This will continue to be my policy in the future.

Gas—A Benefactor To Mankind

To those who can remember the transition of lighting from kerosene lamps to that by gas lights brings a realization of the benefits to mankind which have resulted from the use of gas.

Yet there are many today who look upon the conveniences of gas lighting and heating as a common place fact, something which calls for little elation.

But to ponder a moment, industry and the housewife would be hard put for convenience and efficiency were it not for the gas appliances available today.

Last year alone, American housewives bought two and a quarter million gas ranges, more than all other kinds of ranges combined; that is, more than the coal, oil, wood and electric ranges sold. In city after city, 95 out of 100 homes cook with gas. From coast to coast, 88 million men, women and children now have their meals cooked by gas.

From the gas range of a century ago have been developed the beautiful kitchen ranges of 1948 which feature smart streamlined designs, automatic controls and many, other surprising innovations. The new gas ranges light automatically, give highbroil heat instantaneously, and bake and broil at the same time.
They have automatic clock control, which starts and stops oven cooking, automatic top and oven lighting, and automatic heat control.

Indeed time marches on and with it more and greater improvements in gas appliances and the uses thereof.

Twin Dangers

Two things are fairly evident as the waning summer girds for a last-ditch battle to make us wish to be Arctic explorers.

The first portent on the horizon is that a crash appears to be looming ahead.

When the wealthy grow wealthier, while the poor grow poorer, and the purchasing power of the majority shrinks as inflation evaporates the worker's income, trouble lies ahead.

When corporate profits show large gains, while prices for the consumer skyrocket, and the consumer must mortgage his future earnings to live, the handwriting begins to show on the wall.

At the same time, on the international scene, Russia is inexorably moving the world closer to war.

Regardless of the amateur "quintlings" in our midst, Communism is day by day becoming a greater challenge to democracy, and there can now be little doubt that the Communists are determined to wreck democratic civilization and supplant it with the Communist way of life.

Today Russia's vast armies stand over a world empire so extensive that sea power cannot encircle it.

With Germany's industrial plants crippled, Russia is now the military and industrial power of Continental Europe.

With Japan reduced to a small power, China torn with internal strife, Russia is also the overlord of Asia.

Thus the two great powers of this world now face each other across the globe.

That these two dangers, the one domestic and the other international, stand in distinct relationship was capably brought out by John Foster Dulles in his recent address before the World Council of Churches at Amsterdam.

"The most important response to the Soviet challenge," said the man who may well be our next Secretary of State, "will be

Babson Discusses Farmers and Fishermen

Babson Authentic Statement. Copyright 1948.
Publishers' Financial Bureau, Incorporated

The most useful people today are farmers, fishermen and inventors. What about teachers, preachers, writers, etc., you may ask. Well, if they make people more useful farmers, more useful inventors and more useful fishermen, they also are patriotic citizens. If, however, they merely make people dissatisfied with present conditions and make them greater spenders and wasters, then they are doing more harm than good. Robert M. Hutchings, Chancellor of Chicago University, says:

"Americans have never had to be intelligent. America has grown rich and strong not because of its system of education, but in spite of it. Only a country with great natural resources could survive our educational system so lacking in logic and ultimate aim."

WHY PROTECT THE FARMERS?

The present increase in population demands a constant increase in food production, or the world will starve. The per capita productivity of the earth is falling rapidly. In fact, my friend H. S. Richland of Maitland, Florida, claims, "so-called scientific agriculture is not solving the problem; in fact, it remedies aggravate the illness. There has been a greater loss of productive soil in the last few decades through cultivation than the accumulated loss of all previous time. Chemical farming is not the answer; it does not offset large crop diseases and insect pests.

Furthermore, DDT and other sprays are killing off honeybees, lady beetles, mantis, as well as birds, toads, spiders, etc., which have heretofore protected us from insects. It is dangerous enough to depend upon the soil for food but, as it is now being used for raising industrial products, the situation becomes far more serious.
We are fast approaching a time when a newsboy and mailman must collect an old paper and magazine in order to leave a new one, and when the sales tax will be assessed on what we waste rather than on what we buy. Hence, we must give every encouragement to the farmer, forester and gardener.

WHY PROTECT THE FISHERMEN?

When we are moaning about soil erosion, we should remember that this soil with its minerals and vitamins has been washed down the little streams and large rivers into the ocean. Hence, while the soils have been getting poorer, the oceans have been getting richer. This means that while grains, vegetables, cattle, poultry, eggs, etc., raised on the soil without special prepared food, are constantly becoming less nutritious, the fish and other ocean products are constantly getting richer in minerals and vitamins.

The washing of the soil can be prevented by contour plowing;
and by returning to the soil all of the crop excepting the portion which goes down the sewers of cities. When you consider, however that over 12,000,000 people live in Greater New York, and 25,000,000 live in other large cities and their metropolitan areas, this adds up to over a quarter of our population. Most of their waste goes down sewers ultimately into the ocean. Hence, my appeal that the fishing industry deserves as much protection and government subsidy as the farming industry. In fact, the ocean and its products are the hope and salvation of mankind along with religion and education.

WHY PROTECT INVENTORS?

Outside of the bare necessities of food, clothing and shelter, as enjoyed by the humblest original settlers, everything we have worthwhile, from a needle to a harvesting machine, we owe to inventors. Labor leaders claim that today's better standard of living has come from increased union wages, but this is a lie.
The increased standard of living enjoyed by wageworkers today is due to new inventions, new processes, and new products. It is true that labor unions may have forced employers to encourage and finance inventors; but with the same inventions as we have today, wageworkers would be just as well off if there had been no such thing as labor unions. Hence, I appeal for government subsidy for inventors, including necessary funds for financing worthwhile inventions, and that rich corporations be prevented from buying up and smothering inventions to protect their own obsolete plants and machinery.

In effecting peacefully the reforms which Soviet leaders contend can only be effected by violent means.

"Those who would sustain the status quo," Mr. Dulles continued, "are inevitably defeated. . . . We must not rally to the defense of our institutions just as they are, but we must seek even more ardently to make them better than what they now are."

In order to assist world recovery our economic life must be set straight so that the power of money is subordinated to the welfare of the people as a whole.

Selfishness must, then, be superseded by social justice in order to eliminate these twin evils of insufficiency and insecurity.

In a word, we must begin now to patiently set our own house in order to make a beginning toward establishing the rule of the brotherhood of man under the fatherhood of God.

The shortest distance between two dates is still a good line.

Letters to the Editor

Asks Records Be Considered

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I read with much interest and amazement a letter in your paper regarding the local senatorial contest in which the writer was defending the record of one of the candidates.

Due to my interest in government, I have followed legislation before the General Court closely and take exception to the writers comment "that more than 95 percent of the candidate's voting record has been well considered, discriminating, and for the ultimate good of our city." From my own study of the voting record of this candidate I find that he has ignored his constituents and their needs in Newton in favor of playing politics with other interests in the Commonwealth. What is worse, he has not been available to people seeking to express their ideas on various bills.

Regarding the statement that "Newton has never been more ably represented in the upper house," I am sure thousands of voters remember the excellent records and length of service rendered by Arthur W. Hollis and Benjamin J. Bowen, our two previous Senators. Their records need no encomiums.

If the voters of this Senatorial District consider carefully the records, backgrounds, and abilities of all the candidates, I believe that they will do as I am doing—support Donald L. Gibbs for State Senator.

Frank E. Dowcett,
1015 Washington street,
Newtonville.

A Reply To Mr. Dowcett

September 8, 1948

Editor, The Graphic:

I have today called at the store of Mr. Frank E. Dowcett in West Newton square to ask him about the charges against me which were published over his name
in a letter to the Waltham News Tribune last night and which, I am told, have been sent to other Newton papers. This letter contains two serious claims regarding my service in the state senate based upon Mr. Dowcett's
"own study."

1. "He has ignored his constituents and their needs in Newton in favor of playing politics with other interests in the Commonwealth."

2. "What is worse, he has not been available to people seeking to express their ideas on various bills."

Mr. Dowcett admitted that he has never made any effort to communicate with me during my term in the Senate and that he does not know of his own knowledge of any time when I refused to see anyone. He stated that some other people told him that I had refused to talk with them but he was unable to name any of these people.

He said that if I would return another day he would obtain their names for me. I informed Mr. Dowcett that I had received and answered more than a thousand letters each year on legislative matters and had listened to the views of all the people who had telephoned or called in

Newton and Boston. I am surprised that any citizen, who has never bothered to phone or write me, should write to the newspapers purely on the basis of hearsay evidence.

Mr. Dowcett had difficulty in naming any bill on which I had ignored Newton interests. After a considerable thought he could name only one—a bill to have the Metropolitan District Commission take over the Bemis dam on the Charles River. I explained to him that I was not on the committee to which this bill was referred, that I did not take part in the hearing or deliberations, merely accepting the report of the committee which held hearings and visited the site. I received only one letter regarding this project and that was not from Mr. Dowcett who kept his views to himself until nearly two years later.

I leave your readers to judge who has ignored whom.

Nomination Means Election

Editor, Newton Graphic:

Having been called upon by many of Newton's veterans, to express my opinion regarding the selection of our next State Senator, I am taking this opportunity to warn each and every one of you to vote on September 14. This you may say is only the primaries, but in other inspection you will realize nomination means election. This, we, as veterans, can not pass off lightly.

This year considerable veterans legislation is to be passed.
It is of the utmost importance that we select a man who will stand firmly behind the veterans and their views.

I have made a very complete investigation of the candidates and their records. The summary of the record of Donald L. Gibbs shows he should definitely be Newton's next Senator. Mr.
Gibbs with his wide knowledge gained by seven years on the Newton Board of Aldermen, and his proven interest in our affairs is unbeatable. He is presently chairman of all important committee on Finance. He is a business man with sound judgment. His civic activities are too numerous to mention here.

Let me just say that Donald Gibbs has "it" and if we will only give him the opportunity, I am sure he will demonstrate the same capable, efficient representation in State government, that he has locally. He should definitely be the answer as to whom the veterans of Newton want as their next State Senator. It is all up to you.

P.S.—Remember "September 14 selection means definite election." 24 Elliot Terrace,

A Crude And Cruel Movement

Editor, Newton Graphic:

The two letters in your paper last week certainly proved to be a bomb-shell in this household.
I had no idea that such a crude and cruel movement such as that to oust Senator Lee and substitute him with a machine yes-man was afoot.

Upon checking closely I find that every word that Mr. Blakemore says and Mr. Edwards says is absolutely the truth. What can anyone be thinking of who would attempt to destroy Mr.
Lee's brilliant career for the sake of petty politics and personal gain. Is Newton heading down the same dark road that has led to the degeneration of many of our Massachusetts cities?

Senator Lee has closely followed the needs of his constituents and ignored personal popularity to their best interests. He is very unpopular with the racetrack crowd because of his splendid bill which takes the establishing of tracks out of the hands of the politicians and puts the question by referendum to the individual voters in the town where a track is sought.

I see that simultaneously with the Lee Oleo Bill becoming a law and colored oleo being sold on the market, the price of butter has dropped four to six cents.
Do we thank Senator Lee for that or does the credit go to some drug store cowboy?

It is also a well known fact that Senator Lee has never received a phone call or a letter that he did not give his utmost attention to no matter what the hour. He has been a slave to us. We cannot afford to lose him in favor of a puppet.

What if the movement succeeds, and the boys tire of their new tool within the next two years and decide to send somebody else to the State House?
There will be no end to this.

I have examined the records and I ask that other readers do likewise and upon doing so I know that they will discover as I have that somebody in Newton is trying to send a toy, and a small one at that, on a man's errand.

RITA M. BALCH.

Urges Lee's Nomination

Editor, Newton Graphic:

As the father of a service man
I believe that I can view any contest for a seat in Congress or the legislature objectively, and still give the edge to that candidate, or candidates, who can best serve the interests of ex-service men or women.

Just as Leverett Saltonstall and Sinclair Weeks who during World War I laid aside professional business or political interests to enter the service of their country at a risk of their lives, so Henry Cabot Lodge, Richard H. Lee, Howard Whitmore, Jr., and Loomis Patrick laid aside any political ambitions and professional or business connections to also risk their lives in the service of our country that we might have a better world in which to live.

All of these men, excepting two who voluntarily retired from legislative duties for personal reasons are now representing Newton and Massachusetts in the United States Senate or the Massachusetts Senate or House of Representatives.
Many vitally important measures affecting the interests of ex-service men and women, will come before the next sessions of the Congress and the legislature.

With no change in this representation between 8000 and 10,000 ex-service people in Newton, Ward 22 in Brighton and Ward 5 in Cambridge will continue to be represented by ex-combat veterans of experience in legislative procedure. It would take many replacement years to acquire their knowledge, experience and prestige.

Looking back to the 12 years of service in the legislature of both Leverett Saltonstall and William B. Baker (the watchdog of the treasury) and the terms of service of others, I do not recall one instance in which the Republican party has refused a renomination to any member of either branch.

Senator Richard H. Lee has an outstanding war record and an unusual list of accomplishments in the state senate for a senator serving his first term.

Inspired by what motives, no one knows, two men are attempting to contest this renomination of Senator Richard H.
Lee in the Republican primaries on September 14.

Neither of these men are veterans, thus lacking the veterans' "point of view" so necessary if they are to properly and effectively represent, in the state senate, our veteran sons and daughters.

Nor have they had legislative experience in the State House, a handicap for some time to come, just when these important measures dealing with veterans' problems such as housing, health, education, etc., are before the Senate and should have, even require, expert consideration and treatment.

Defeat should face Murray and Gibbs in their attempts to defeat Senator Richard H. Lee.
Frank S. Bonney.

An Unsolicited Letter

Editor, Newton Graphic:
I note that a question has been raised inferentially in a letter to the press as to my relations with labor organizations and "the little fellow." In this connection your readers may be interested in the following letter which I received unsolicited, last June.
The signers, incidentally, are people whom I had not met prior to taking office in 1946, hence there is no question of my attitude toward them "changing after election."

particularly on behalf of the employees of the Commonwealth

cere gratitude and appreciation port given to legislation spon-

Newton-Wellesley Hospital Has Full Quota of Students

With the arrival of 41 young women who have elected nursing as a career, the School of Nursing at Newton-Wellesley Hospital has secured a full quota of students for the beginning Fall class, it is announced by Miss Mabel McVicker, Principal of the School of Nursing and Director of Nursing Service.

Students arriving Tuesday afternoon, with their parents and friends, were the guests of the Student Association of the School at a tea held in the Nurses Home. Each new arrival was greeted by a "big sister" student nurse with whom she had exchanged correspondence during the summer. The "little sisters" in the incoming class could be identified by a yellow corsage which each had received from the student reception committee.

The incoming class will devote the rest of the week to an orientation program. Formal preclinical studies begin next Monday. New students include the following:

Employ Physically Handicapped Week October 3rd to 9th

This year again the first week in October—3rd through 9th—has been set aside as National Employ the Physically Handicapped Week. The observance of this week has been designated annually by an Act of Congress and by presidential proclamation.

There are various State, Federal and private agencies interested in the furtherance of the employment of physically handicapped persons. State and local committees have been formed including representatives of the following agencies: State Department of Education—Division of Vocational Rehabilitation and Division of the Blind—State Division of Employment Security, State Office of Veterans Services, Veterans Employment Service, Veterans Administration and the United States Civil Service Commission. Through the State committee the efforts of all the agencies involved are being coordinated.

Physically handicapped persons today are represented in practically every occupation and in every type of business. Their performance on the job has proven to be on a par or above that of non-handicapped persons. It is their ability—not their disability that counts. Thousands of our citizens are physically handicapped as a result of their service in the armed forces. These disabled veterans, many of them blind, amputees, combat wounded, malaria victims, should receive our wholehearted support and assistance.

Every physically handicapped person—veteran or non-veteran—asks for one thing only—the opportunity to prove his ability in gainful employment.

Hallowe'en—

later are the "generals" who will recruit and direct the more than 1400 volunteer workers who, in past years, have made these Hallowe'en parties, in which more than 10,000 school children of all ages participate, so outstandingly successful. Mr. Whitmore will preside and among the several speakers will be Mayor Lockwood, who was one of the originators of Newton's Hallowe'en get-togethers, eight years ago.

Last year's event, under the able chairmanship of Mr. Whitmore, was splendidly organized and engineered. As a lifelong resident of Newton, Mr. Whitmore has been active in civic affairs. While at the Newton High School, he was captain of the baseball team for two years and later, at Harvard, played varsity baseball. Mr. Whitmore has done valuable work politically—both as a Newton Alderman and in the State Legislature.

In short, his long and varied experience in affairs calling for executive and administrative direction stands him in good stead in the task of enlisting the enthusiastic co-operation of the innumerable men and women who will make up the machinery that will run the more than 240 Hallowe'en parties throughout the City.

Following next Wednesday's meetings, the committees for individual parties will be formed, and it is expected that, as heretofore, they will begin functioning promptly.

All Newton Music School to Open 38th Season Sept. 20

Monday, September 20, the All Newton Music School will open for its thirty-eighth season. The Peirce School branch in West Newton will begin on Tuesday, September 21, and regular sessions will be held thereafter on Tuesday and Thursday afternoons. This branch is operated for the convenience of young students who live in that section of Newton.

In order to be sure of their places in the schedules, former students must be registered not later than Monday, September 13 before registration of new applicants begins. During the week before lessons start, registration for new students will be held on Tuesday, September 14, through Friday, September 17, between one and five in the afternoon. To ensure the most satisfactory results, new applicants must call the school office and make an appointment for an interview. All new students will be accepted on trial until effort and aptitude may be tested.

The All Newton Music School, founded in 1911, is a Community Music School and a Red Feather Service. It provides a comprehensive course of study in music with teachers of experience, ability, and understanding. It offers opportunity to young people who are eager to study and willing to work, and cooperates with the other social agencies of Newton in extending its resources to all groups in the community.

Since the very beginning, the Music School has provided a rich and varied musical life for students of all ages and degrees of talent. Believing that the study of music is a serious undertaking, the faculty aims to develop in each student qualities of skill, imagination, and a thorough knowledge of the material of which music is made. The school always encourages the amateur musician to follow procedures similar to those of the professional, although not necessarily to the same degree.

The All Newton Music School offers a carefully planned course of study with systematic supervision and regular promotion, grade by grade. The curriculum meets the requirements drawn up by the National Guild of Community Music Schools which is divided into elementary, junior, intermediate and advanced grades. A course of study is outlined for each grade in each department, including requirements on the chosen instrument, as well as supplementary studies in musicianship, theory and ensemble. Certificates and diplomas are awarded upon the satisfactory completion of the stipulated requirements.

Pre-instrumental classes for students up to seven years of age and classes in musicianship and theory for older children are held weekly starting in October. These classes offer a foundation in the knowledge and skills essential to the trained musician. They aim to make the student thoroughly familiar with the various elements of music, and are designed to develop ability to listen intelligently, to provide a musical vocabulary based upon experience in sound and rhythm, and to encourage the creative impulse.

Opportunities for group playing in orchestras, quartets, and trios are offered without extra charge to Music School students who are sufficiently advanced. This training which is both valuable and interesting is open to non-students of the Music School at a small fee.

The office of the All Newton Music School is open for business matters mornings from 9 until 12, Tuesday through Saturday. Calls may be made during these hours for information, appointments for an interview, or appointments to visit the school. The Music School is a charter member of the Newton Community Chest, the Newton Community Council, and the National Guild of Community Music Schools.

Gath Putting on Active Campaign

The State Representative primary affair in the Fourth Middlesex District has been enlivened by the active and aggressive campaign of Harry Gath, Jr., 600 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville, who during the week has developed a definite primary campaign platform that "hits home" to the Garden City. He has definitely called the turn on his opponents with state law measures that pertain to the citizens of his district, Wards 1, 2, 3 and 7, extending from the Boston line in Brighton to the Auburndale district. Mr. Gath, so well known in the "other side of the tracks" district has emphasized his program at scores of home rallies and at meetings of his committee.

As a leader in the development of a year-round sports program for the youth of Newton, Mr. Gath has adopted a measure for action by the legislature that pertains to one of the most far reaching social services needed, namely, the solution of the DC (displaced children) problem. Speaking of this issue Mr. Gath said, "Right here in Newton there are cases of displaced children, the innocent victims of the broken war romances with no money being made by the state for their care under home conditions. Right now in Newton the veterans' service bureau have terrific difficulty trying to place these children whether they be 6 months or 16 years old. I've checked the various private social agencies and they agree the problem exists. It is a matter for state action immediately."

"Certainly there are other state issues that effect the citizens of Newton, Newtonville and West Newton. Take the road issue for instance. What's causing all the postponement on the building of Route 128 as it has been planned for the past few years? Newton's traffic problems are well known to our citizens in Newton Corner, Newtonville and West Newton Squares. My supporters well know the poor condition of the Worcester pike. What's being done about it under Chapter 90 with state and county aid? Nothing. And that goes for all the main arteries through our traffic-bound Garden City."

"They talk about reorganizing the Boston Transit Commission. Newton should be represented on that board if we are to continue to pay the losses of the operation of the MTA which I understand is interpreted in some quarters as "more trouble ahead."

Senator Lee Names Committee Purposes

Senator Richard H. Lee, of Newton, head of the Special Commission on Public Health matters, has announced the establishment of technical committees of experts to draft programs in the three fields of Maternal and Child Health, Communicable Disease and Sanitation. These boards of experts are now at work on reports to the Commission.

As a result of last year's study and hearings the Commission proposed a law to put convalescent and nursing homes under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Health. The number of these homes has increased rapidly since the war and crowded hospitals and lack of housing have caused more and more people to seek admission. The Department of Public Health will inspect these homes and require them to observe basic rules of safety, sanitation and nursing care, and thus insure good treatment of the patients. This law was enacted this spring.

Senator Lee also sponsored a bill proposed by Professor Stare of Newton and the Massachusetts Central Health Council to require bread sold in the stores to be enriched with vitamins and minerals sufficient to replace those lost in the milling of white flour. With the high price of meat, families with lower incomes are more dependent on bread than ever before. This enrichment will be particularly beneficial to growing children and should give greater immunity to disease. This bill met with some opposition at first but was redrafted and passed and signed by Governor Bradford. It was endorsed by the Massachusetts Home Economics Association and the Business and Professional Women's Club.

the important Committee on Public Service and we feel that you should be complimented and congratulated for the service rendered by you and your colleagues on this Committee during the past legislative year. Let me assure you that should the opportunity present itself for our membership of our organization to assist you, we shall be only too glad to do so.

Sincerely hoping that you will be returned by the constituents of your district to continuously serve in the Massachusetts Legislature, and your record in behalf of public employees and the citizens and taxpayer in general warrants a continuation of your public service.

Very respectfully,
S/WILLIAM V. WARD,
President.

Has Friendly Attitude

Editor, Newton Graphic:
As a member of the American Newspaper Guild who is interested in electing men with liberal records, I heartily endorse Donald L. Gibbs as Republican candidate for State Senator. I urge all my friends in the labor movement to vote for Mr. Gibbs, whose dealings with employees have been eminently fair and whose record in office has been highly satisfactory, from a labor viewpoint.

State employees can expect honest consideration of their problems by Don Gibbs. He is not disposed to penalize them financially in these inflationary days. Organized workers may rest assured that he will in the Senate, give them a square deal.

The times call for men who will play fair with both capital and labor. Don Gibbs is one of these men — without bias, fear or favor — willing to give "the little fellow" a break.

Industries Approve Blood Program Here

Industries have indicated their approval of the Newton Blood Program and are co-operating in many ways. Some plants are distributing literature and others are having group meetings in an effort to explain this highly important service to the community. Newton has used, during a five-month period, the equivalent of 700 pints of blood, which were supplied by the Red Cross Blood Bank. During that same time only 250 pints were procured in Newton.

In order to make up part of this deficit, the Mobile Unit will be at the Chapter House, 21 Foster St., Newtonville on Friday, September 24, from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Dr. Edward Sawyer, head of the Newton Medical Club has endorsed this program as has Dr. T. Stewart Hamilton, Director of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital. Donors should call LA 7-6000.

All Drivers Must Be Careful

With vacation over and children back at school drivers must be extra careful. Edgar F. Copell, president-director of the Massachusetts Safety Council in discussing the Council's back-to-school safety program pointed out that, "The responsibility for keeping our children safe is a job for the whole community—parents, police, school officials, teachers and every motorist."

Here are some of the ways motorists can help protect our youngsters:

1. Consider every child on the street as a human caution sign.

2. Drive with extra care wherever you see children—in school zones and residential areas, or wherever you suspect they may be playing near the street.

3. Keep clear of bicycles. They should know regulations, but even when they violate the law, you've got to watch out for them.

4. Watch out for youngsters on triecycles, roller skates, scooters, and coaster wagons.

5. Watch out for youngsters chasing footballs in the street.

Mr. Copell had a word of warning to the teen-age drivers—who are involved in their share of accidents. Only 5 per cent of all drivers are in the teen-age group, but they have more than 8 per cent of all accidents and, based on miles driven, have the highest accident rate of any age group.

Teen-agers must assume the responsibility of driving a car safely and obey all traffic laws.

To the parents of teen-agers who drive, Mr. Copell says, "You parents have a big responsibility too. Don't permit your boy or girl to drive if they don't know how to drive safely. Make sure they know the rules of the road before letting them drive the family car!"

Spring concerts. Ralph I. Schoonmaker, director of the chorus, Robert K. Love, accompanist, and the music committee will have charge of the organization's musical projects.

In pointing out the value of the chorus as a community undertaking, Mr. Gardner said that the chorus gives the people of the Newtons an opportunity to support an endeavor in which many persons may participate and which can be enjoyed by everyone.

"Only two questions are asked of those who wish to join us," Mr. Gardner said. "Do you like to sing?"—and—"Can you read music?" Mr. Gardner added that the chorus has made such progress during the past two years as to insure a very much improved technique and a broader musical scope in its programs.

In addition to its musical work, Mr. Gardner said, the chorus sponsors a number of social activities which have become very popular with its membership. He suggested that anyone interested in joining the chorus report for the rehearsal Sept. 21, or communicate with the group's secretary, Miss Mary E. Bowler, 130 Crafts street.

"GIVE US THIS DAY..."—Two children of the Boston Day Nursery of The Salvation Army are thankful for the support of Newton residents in The Salvation Army 1948-49 Greater Boston Appeal for $500,000. The nursery is one of 31 Salvation Army institutions, departments and corps centers dependent upon the success of this campaign.

It's Your Business

A lot depends on whether we look through a lens ground out of hunches—or one ground out of facts.

For instance, the subject of industry's profit is very much in the public eye these days. When viewed through the lens of "hunch," these profits frequently appear greatly distorted.

For example, a recent nationwide poll revealed that many people have a "hunch" industry's profits average as high as 25 cents out of each dollar of sales.

When asked what they thought would be a fair profit for business to make, most of these same people said from 10 to 15 cents out of each dollar. And when we look through the clear lens of fact, it develops that industry averages less than half that much profit.

Statistics published by the U. S. Department of Commerce reveal the exact profit margins on the sales of all manufacturing corporations during the past ten years.

The tables show: 1938, profits 2.3%; 1939, profits 5.2%; 1940, profits 5.8%; 1941, profits 6.2%; 1942, profits 4.5%; 1943, profits 3.9%; 1944, profits 3.8%; 1945, profits 3.3%; 1946, profits 5%; and 1947 (first nine months), profits 6.2%.

Furthermore, about half the profit industry does make is plowed right back into business to help pay for the development that brings more goods, more jobs, and greater security for all.

Why I Go to Church

To meet my Lord in fellowship sweet
With others called to sit at His feet,
And with them pray for the Kingdom's spread
The prayer of faith in the church's Head.

Together to raise the songs of praise
That cheer the traveler on life's ways.
Together to give to meet the need
Of a weary world, forlorn indeed.

Unless the light from God's throne above
Is shed abroad through His gospel of love,
And what one giver would find too small Becomes good measure when given by all.

To study His Word and to listen and learn
New truths, new precepts, all me concern.
For all these reasons I go to church,
While other allurements I leave in the lurch.

Coat and Suit Styling Shows Moderation

Both coats and suits for fall present a slimmer silhouette that looks very suave, very new. The extreme, flare-back coat and ballerina suit must now be classified as "last year's." 1948 models are far more wearable, more becoming to most women — and represent much better buys because they have that quality of timelessness.

Suits are slender and sensible again. They are sound, classic fashions that can be worn for several seasons to make them worthwhile investments. Jackets are trim and precise with narrow shoulders, padded just enough to assure proper fit and good "hang." The trim tailleur is the favorite, but many of the new-looking styles feature a dip or ripple at the back.

The leading suit skirt is pencil-slim with slits at side, front, or back for walking comfort. Skirts, shown with back-interest jackets, are slim at front and sides with rolled gores or inverted pleats in back.

Babson Discusses Politics

Babson Authentic Statement. Copyright 1948.
Publishers' Financial Bureau, Incorporated

BABSON PARK, Mass., Sept. 10—I am a statistician and not a politician. Moreover, I always vote the Prohibition Ticket rather than that of either of the two big parties. Hence, perhaps I am not worthy to discuss politics. But—as my mother used to say—"I like to see even the devil get his due." Therefore, as the Presidential Campaign is now opening, the members of both parties should ponder over the following figures.

WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS

With all the cussing we give President Truman, statistics show that since his administration this country has had the highest national income in its history. At the risk of repeating some facts which I have already stated, let me emphasize that the volume of U. S. business has been above normal for the last ten years (including four of war effort). In fact, the national income for 1948 will be about $215,000,000,000 compared with $40,000,000,000 when Roosevelt became President. This fourfold increase consists of a doubling of goods and services produced and a doubling of prices.

This record really outdistances the boom era of 1922-1930. The volume almost fell to the normal line in 1940 as in 1924; it came within four points of the normal line in 1945. From this point, however, it recovered to a new all-time high within a period of one year. During 1947 and so far in 1948 the volume has run at record highs. The volume of business today stands at 28% above normal. This is close to the April 1947 all-time high and 24 points above the low point of 1945.

COMPARING THE '40'S WITH THE '20'S

There is considerable difference between the boom period of the past ten years and the so-called Coolidge boom of the twenties. The prosperity period of the twenties was a post-war boom culminating in a period of drastic uncontrolled stock market inflation and frenzied speculation. The business of the last ten years consisted of a war and post-war boom culminating in a period of uncontrolled wage inflation which may result in a similar collapse.

During both the early '20's and '40's peacetime goods were reduced to a minimum creating a pent-up demand for consumers goods which to this day is not completely satisfied. This is further being aggravated somewhat now by stockpiling of war material again and the shipping of billions of supplies to Europe.

So far there is as yet no overproduction of consumers' goods; but in some few instances the supply is beginning to catch up with the demand. There are still shortages in automobiles, steel, non-ferrous metals, electrical equipment, new homes and several other capital goods. The inflation at the present time is not in the stock market but in wages and the concomitant high prices.

If this country is headed for a lower national income and the natural decline in business going therewith, I cannot imagine why either Mr. Truman or Mr. Dewey wants to be President. If I were Mr. Truman I would want to retire in my glory; while if I were Mr. Dewey, I had rather wait four years and see what happens to the country in the meantime. Based upon Newton's Law of Action and Reaction, whichever is elected is sure to face hard times and—unless "saved" by World War III—will probably be defeated in 1952.

WHAT JOHN Q. PUBLIC SHOULD DO

Yet if we all—employers and wageworkers—would be willing to work harder and give the consumer more for his dollar, the United States could continue to enjoy present good business for sometime to come. If we consumers would be willing to change our buying habits in accordance with demand and supply, this would prevent prices from going any higher.

If we would encourage the government to cut its pay and relief rolls in halves and put millions of people back into industry, it would both reduce taxes and the labor shortage. There is much that each reader of this column could do to prolong prosperity; but are we willing to do so? Remember that politics are only an echo of what we ourselves are willing to do. A river does not run higher than its source.

erously give their time and energy to make this year's 240 separate parties as successful as they were in 1947.

Among the several speakers was Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, who spoke most interestingly about Newton's Halloween parties and pointed out that they were an outstanding example of civic cooperation and a great credit to the City. Mayor Lockwood was one of a small group of civic-minded men and women who first conceived this remarkable all-Newton enterprise eight years ago and has, since then, given his active interest to each succeeding celebration.

The General Halloween Committee, headed by Howard Whitmore, Jr., includes the following:

C. Evan Johnson, Commissioner of Recreation; Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard, Supervisor of Recreation; Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood; Chief of Police, Philip Purcell; Fire Chief John L. Keating; E. F. Habers'rol, Publicity Chairman; Dr. Homer Anderson, Superintendent of Schools; Harold Gores, Assistant Superintendent of Schools; C. Everett Kinchla, President P. T. A.; William J. Jasset, Rupert C. Thompson, Secretary, Newton Chamber of Commerce; Lyman Whitcomb and G. Elmer Ross, of the American Legion; Irving Siller; Miss F. Eleanor Elliott, Supervisor of Art, N. H. S.; Arthur Swanson, Supt. Eng., School Department; Robert C. Densmore, Newton Trade School; Mrs. Frances Harris, Red Cross; James D. Blackall, Red Cross, First Aid; Dr. Ernest M. Morris, Newton Health Department; Frank M. Grant, City Clerk; Guy S. Baker, Bigelow Jr. High School; Mrs. Brainerd A. Thresher, School Committee; Carlton W. Ray, Principal, Angier School; and Harold Young, Street Commissioner.

Village Coordinators appointed are: Scott H. Wells, Newton Centre; Robert S. Foote, Newton Highlands; Dr. Herman Norton, Waban; Mrs. Warren B. Manhard, Newton; Mrs. Serefin Tornabene, Thompsonville; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McLaughlin, Newton Upper Falls; Henry Cummings, Oak Hill; Mrs. Herbert Reed, Newton Lower Falls; Mr. and Mrs. Gregory J. Samoylenko, Auburndale; Herbert A. Webster, Newtonville; John Martin, Nantum; and James R. Bryant, West Newton.

Teachers—

L. Keating, Fire Chief; Lt. Thomas P. McManus, Newton Fire Department; Miss Helene D. Brievogel, Supervisor of Health and Physical Education, Newton School Department; and Mrs. Elizabeth K. Miller, Nursing Supervisor, Newton Health Department.

Wage Scale—

from the present 65-70 hours to 48.

"Since such a change would cost the city about $200,000 annually but provide no more protection than at present, we respectfully request that you suspend a decision on any new wage scale for the firemen at least until their hours on duty shall have been determined.

"It should be noted that the working conditions and pension and retirement benefits of these men at present are very liberal. "Moreover if their 'work week' should be cut by nearly one-third without some corresponding modification of their wage scale, the effect will be most unfortunate upon all the other employees of the city who could not share in a similar benefit.

"We would greatly appreciate, therefore, your favorable consideration of this request."

Council Delegates Meeting on Sept. 30

The regular Fall Meeting of the Newton Community Council delegates is to be held Thursday, September 30, at 8 p.m. at the Newton High School Auditorium.

September has been designated by President Truman as Youth Month and Mayor Lockwood has pledged his support of this program. As the planning and coordinating body of Newton, the Council is devoting its attention at this meeting to the young people. There will be a panel of junior and senior high school students lead by Dr. Edward Landy, Director of Counseling Services in the Newton schools, who will discuss the human and material resources embodying Newton's recreational facilities.

Mr. Harold T. Pillsbury is chairman of the Program Committee with Mrs. E. Graham Bates, C. Evan Johnson, Charles O. Richter, and Dr. Edward Landy assisting him.

The Newton Community Council feels this subject is of such widespread interest, the meeting will be open to the public.

Need Help For Social Work in Boston Area

The help of Newton residents was asked today by the Volunteer Service Bureau, a Red Feather agency, which has just launched a concerted drive to recruit two thousand volunteer workers for the hospitals, settlement houses and other social agencies in greater Boston.

The need for volunteer help has seldom been more urgent, according to Miss Harriet Parker, Director of the Bureau. "We have hundreds of pleas from hospitals," Miss Parker said in a recent interview. "They are asking for clinic receptionists, ward helpers, escorts and messengers. The settlement houses are equally badly in need of men and women who will act as leaders of young adults' clubs or children's groups. People with every imaginable hobby—crafts, games, carpentry, dramatics, dancing and story-telling are requested by the settlements."

Daylight Raid Delights Mother

Like all vigorous youngsters, Johnny loves drama and excitement. He also has a healthy appetite. So whenever he grows hungry or thirsty he stages an ice box raid in the best Indian tradition.

Johnny's mother smiles and looks the other way. She knows that he's after a bottle of Hood's Milk, and she knows there's plenty of it on hand. She always makes sure to buy enough for Johnny and his friends, because she knows the value of milk for growing children. She buys Hood's Milk because her routesalesman has explained the nutritive value of milk and has told her how Hood's quality control assures freshness and wholesomeness.

And she actually saves money by using more milk instead of other expensive foods—thereby giving Johnny the best in nutrition at minimum cost. She has learned that milk gives her more for her money than any other food. And for quality, she buys Hood's—the favorite of more New Englanders than any other brand.

Wednesday evening testimony meeting at 8.

"Matter" is the Lesson Sermon subject for Sunday, September 19. Golden text: "Turn ye not unto idols, nor make to yourselves molten gods: I am the Lord your God." (Leviticus 19:4). Sermon: Passages from the Bible (King James Version) include:

"And by the hands of the apostles were many signs and wonders wrought among the people . . . There came also a multitude out of the cities round about unto Jerusalem, bringing sick folks, and them which were vexed with unclean spirits: and they were healed every one." (Acts 5:12,16) Correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy include:

"Anciently the followers of Christ, or Truth, measured Christianity by its power over sickness, sin, and death; but modern religions generally omit all but one of these powers—the power over sin. We must seek the undivided garment, the whole Christ, as our first proof of Christianity, for Christ, Truth, alone can furnish us with absolute evidence." (p.142)

THE POLITICAL POT

Voters Who Cast Ballots For Rowe and Tobin May Well Determine Governor in November... Wide Open Battle Between Dever and Bradford Is Foreseen

• • • You can make almost any interpretation that fits your political views of the Dever-Tobin and Bradford-Rowe vote in Tuesday's primary, but the cold fact of the matter is that the fight for the Governorship remains to be won and lost.

Both Governor Robert F. Bradford and former Attorney General Paul A. Dever profess to be delighted with the vote total and winning plurality each received in Tuesday's balloting, but you may be very sure that each is giving some sombre thought to the votes in his own party that he didn't receive.

It was a remarkable thing that Secretary of Labor Tobin, after pleading for support for Dever, announcing that he did not want a complimentary vote and declaring that he intended to mark his ballot for Dever, received a bigger vote than did State Senator Edward M. Rowe who had criticized Bradford in forceful fashion in the Republican primary.

How the more than 100,000 men and women, who marked their ballots for Tobin and Rowe on Tuesday, vote on Nov. 2 could well decide the battle for the Governorship.

On any analysis of Tuesday's returns, Rowe's total can be construed as a protest vote against Governor Bradford by more than a sixth of the Republicans who went to the polls. Any such proportionate defection in the G.O.P. vote for Bradford on election day would make it extremely difficult for the Governor to win another term.

Tobin's total was probably more in the nature of a complimentary vote from thousands of persons who knew that Dever would be nominated for Governor but who nevertheless marked crosses beside Tobin's name as a gesture of their esteem for him. That's understandable, of course.

But Republican leaders can well counter by pointing out that Bradford, opposed by an active candidate, polled a higher percentage of the vote cast in his contest than did Dever who was in the extraordinary position of having an opponent who was appealing for votes for him.

There are so many factors which have to be weighed that it's difficult to make any appraisal of Tuesday's returns in terms of what they may forecast for the coming election.

The Republican vote was considerably higher than it usually is in a primary election. As a matter of fact, Governor Bradford polled a substantially bigger vote than he did two years ago when he was unopposed.

Obviously, thousands of Republicans, who otherwise would have stayed home, went to the polls because Governor Bradford was being challenged by Senator Rowe. That wouldn't indicate much G.O.P. coolness toward the Bradford administration.

On the other hand, thousands of prospective Dever supporters undoubtedly didn't bother to cast ballots because the former Attorney General had no contest, and it was merely a question of how big a vote Dever could roll up. A great many persons won't take the trouble to go to the polls unless they can play a part in deciding some real fight.

You must remember, too, that neither Bradford nor Dever made any real campaign. Bradford ignored Rowe. He declined to answer any of the questions or allegations Rowe hurled at him. That was probably shrewd political strategy since the Cambridge Senator might have been able to make a stronger showing if he could have drawn Bradford into a debate with him.

Dever's recent campaign, except for his personal appearances, consisted mostly of a few appeals by Tobin asking his supporters to vote for Dever.

Both Bradford and Dever have been priming their guns for November. They tried to take the primary in stride, and they pretty well succeeded. You probably will hear conflicting analysis of what Tuesday's vote foretold for the coming election, but our opinion is that at this stage the Bradford-Dever race is still a wide open battle with any real trend yet undeveloped.

Wood's Victory Over Olander Republican Surprise

• • • Probably the most surprising result of the Republican primary was the feat of former State Auditor Russell A. Wood of Cambridge, battle-scarred G.O.P. warhorse, in winning the nomination for Auditor over Mayor Edwin L. Olander of Northampton.

The Republican high command didn't want Wood on the G.O.P. State ticket. It would have much preferred Olander, an extremely promising young veteran who undoubtedly would have added strength to the G.O.P. slate in western Massachusetts which feels that it is all too often ignored by both political parties.

But the Republican leaders did not make an open fight on behalf of Olander except for swinging the Republican Club of Massachusetts behind him. Perhaps they were fearful of joining in an open primary battle within their party. Possibly they were apprehensive about placing their political prestige in the scales.

Whatever the reason may have been for their failure to wage a stronger campaign on Olander's behalf, the efforts they did make weren't enough to put him over. There probably are some rather red faces in the high G.O.P. councils because despite the opposition of the Republican machine Wood was nominated without making a speech, without attending a rally or meeting and without spending a dollar.

The answer, of course, is that a great many Republicans didn't know their party leaders cared who was nominated, and they voted for Wood, whose name was familiar to them, having appeared on the ballot many times.

Sullivan Strong Running Mate for Dever

• • • Attorney General Dever will have a strong running mate in Mayor Charles F. Jeff Sullivan of Worcester, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor, who will contribute strength to the Democratic ticket in the Worcester area.

This actually is a poorly balanced Democratic slate, for Sullivan is the only person on it who lives more than a good stone's throw from Boston. Dever, of course, is from Cambridge. Four of the other candidates reside in Boston and one in Chelsea.

The Republican ticket has a little better geographical spread. Governor Bradford is from Cambridge, Lieutenant Governor Coolidge from Reading, Senator Saltonstall from Dover, Attorney General Barnes from Mansfield, Secretary of State Cook from Somerville, Wood from Cambridge and State Treasurer Laurence Curtis from the Back Bay.

Former Lieutenant Governor Francis E. Kelly again proved himself a formidable primary opponent, winning the nomination for Attorney General over three opponents. In the weeks ahead he will wage his third campaign against Clarence A. Barnes who has twice defeated him.

Fitzgerald Win Proves Value of Top Position

Some surprise was expressed in political circles that former City Councillor John I. Fitzgerald of the West End, one time lieutenant to the famed political czar, the late Martin Lomasney, emerged as the winner of the race for the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator and as the candidate who will oppose Leverett Saltonstall in November.

Fitzgerald's victory demonstrates the importance of first place on the ballot in a Democratic primary fight in which none of the candidates is particularly well known to most of the voters. Some people, who paid little attention to the primary campaigning, were surprised to discover that this Fitzgerald is not ex-Mayor John F. "Sweet Adeline" Fitzgerald.

Along my driveway I have large stones which I would like to paint, to set them off and make the driveway attractive. What sort of paint should I use, so that it won't come off too quickly?

Exterior paint will adhere to the stones, and will give reasonable service. Cement paint would also be satisfactory.

I bought some canned coconut custard before the war, but couldn't use it because of the sugar shortage. I've used some since, but find the custard has a bitter, burned taste. What can I do to eliminate this taste, or do you think the custard is spoiled?

Chances are the custard is spoiled. It'd be safer not to use it.

DINING with JANE and BILL

Jane—This Bigelow 4-4912? Hello, Marge, this is Jane. I'm rounding up some of our friends for supper and a get-together next Friday. We'd love to have you come and lead a discussion in meal-planning. Think you can make it?

Marge (over phone)—Oh, I would like very much to come, but I have a meeting that night. Marie might be able to come.

Jane—That would be fine.

Marge—Your get-togethers are such fun—I know Marie would enjoy talking to your group about meal planning. I can still taste the delicious creamed tuna on toast you served with those wonderful stuffed olives in the sauce. But wait a second, here is Marie—you can talk with her and make all the arrangements.

Marie—Hello, Jane.

Jane—Hello Marie—you heard about our get-together for Friday—now let me tell you more about the plans for this time.

Marie—Oh, good. What's up?

Jane—Well, I've decided to serve some delicious steaming oyster stew, since oysters are now back in the markets. In fact that's one of the reasons I called. I'd love a real good recipe for oyster stew and also I'm curious to know if oysters have much food value.

Marie—Well, I have just the recipe you've been looking for. Oysters are a fine idea. They're so good as a meat substitute and also give us quite a bit of iron and iodine. Then they contain fair amounts of thiamin, riboflavin and niacin—so you see oysters are an excellent food to use.

Jane—I'm glad to know this. Also, Marie, is there anything special to remember when I make the stew?

Marie—Yes, the main point is not to overcook or boil, as the oysters will toughen and the stew will be robbed of its wonderful delicate flavor.

Here's the recipe, I'm sure it will be a hit.

OYSTER STEW
(Six servings)

1 quart oysters
1 cup extra juice or water
1 quart of rich milk (with plenty of evaporated milk or cream)
3 tablespoons of butter or oleomargarine
1/2 teaspoon salt pepper
paprika, very small dash

Cook oysters in the juice or water very slowly over extremely low heat until the edges curl slightly. Remove from fire immediately. Scald milk—do not boil—in double boiler. To this scalded milk add butter or oleo, salt and pepper, oysters and their cooking juice. Add these slowly and carefully. Allow the mixture to stand for blending. Serve the stew piping hot, but never allow it to boil. Just before serving, add a small dash of paprika. Serve with oyster crackers and tossed green salad.

Household Hints

1. I would like to know how to remove wax from a desk so that I can give it a coat of varnish. The top doesn't need it, but the legs have a very poor finish. 2. Can you tell me the name of a place where I can get a bridge lamp repaired? Just below the swing arms, there is an ornamental mold that has cracked in two places, and I'm afraid some day it will just drop off.

1. Wax remover will take off the wax, but the job is bigger than that. To get satisfactory results, all the varnish should be removed with varnish remover, the surface sanded thoroughly, and several coats of varnish applied. Sand each coat after it has dried. Unless you do the whole desk at once, there may be a color and texture difference between the top and the legs. 2. A neighborhood electrician should be able to repair your lamp, but if the job is too complicated, refer to the classified section of the telephone book for lamp repair firms.

Thousands of CYO Members Parade In Boston October 3

A huge parade of approximately 60,000 members of the Catholic Youth Organization and its affiliates, the Archconfraternity of Christian Doctrine, Children of Mary, Parochial grammar and high schools and Catholic colleges throughout the Archdiocese will march through Boston on October 3.

A great outpouring of "Catholic Youth on the March," the parade will take more than six hours to pass. Color and pageantry will be one of the main features.

More than 100 huge floats will highlight the parade, each unit float representing scenes or incidents in the life of its patron church. Our Lady of Perpetual Help, Notre Dame Academy, Granby Street, and Emmanuel College, are the latest units to enter floats.

Archbishop Cushing, in an announcement made prior to his departure on the pilgrimage to Rome, stated, "On this particular day the spiritual interests of the young will be given chief consideration. For them, a three-point program will be instituted—a devout Confession, attendance at Holy Mass, and the reception of Holy Communion."

The float and insignia committees began actual preparations for the parade in a meeting held at Cathedral School Hall last week and attended by more than 300 parish representatives. Eleven judges, yet to be determined, will select the prize-winning floats.

If you can't use it—someone can—Sell it through The Newton Graphic Classified Columns. Call Lasell 7-4354.

Thirty-six Newton Boys at Fessenden

Thirty-six boys from Newton will be among the 215 enrolled at the Fessenden School at the opening of its 46th year in West Newton this week. Ages of the boys range from 6 to 14. Twenty-one states, the District of Columbia, and five foreign countries will be represented by boys at the school this year.

Among them will be 12-year-old Yi-Ying Freddie Sun, of Shanghai, China, whose mother, Mrs. Kuo-Sieu Won Sun, is to teach Far Eastern History at Wellesley College this year as an exchange professor.

Mrs. Sun graduated from that college in 1925 and received her Master of Arts degree from Columbia the following year. Her sister attended the New England Conservatory of Music and her husband is a graduate of Cornell.

Mrs. Sun not only served as president of the National Y.W.C.A. in China during the war, taught in a university and organized and supervised flood relief on a large scale, but when the Japanese entered the area where her husband's family lived, she took his family into her Shanghai home and ran a household of 21.

Coming to the Fessenden School, her son is expected to be able to give fellow students a feeling of closer contact with recent and current developments in China.

Other boys who will be able to contribute as much to the Fessenden boys' understanding of other nations as they learn from them about the people and ways of the United States, include five from the Good Neighbor republic of Colombia, one from Venezuela, two from Mexico, and one from Canada.

Mrs. Katherine Irwin and Donald McCorkindale are new members of the faculty this year. Mrs. Irwin, a graduate of the University of Minnesota, will teach the third grade, assisting Mrs. William Goodhue, Mr. McCorkindale, a graduate of Deerfield academy and Dartmouth college, and also a graduate student of Tufts college, will teach mathematics. He was an officer in the U. S. Navy during World War II.

The number of boys entering Fessenden for the first time as new students this year is 65. Among them are sons of alumni, while the total number of second generation Fessenden school boys enrolled is 10. There will be 135 boarders and 80 day boys, the latter living in Belmont, Brighton, Cambridge, Chestnut Hill, Dover, Needham, Charles River, The Newtons, Wellesley and Weston.

The annual Council Swim Meet for all Scouts of Newton and Wellesley will be held this coming Saturday, September 18, at the Newton Y.M.C.A. Pool, 276 Church street, Newton.

According to Mr. Loring Litchfield of Waban, chairman of the Swim Meet Committee, this event, coming as the first in Norumbega Council's busy fall program, promises to be well attended by enthusiastic Scouts of Newton and Wellesley.

The Scouts will be divided into two classifications according to age for this Meet. Those Scouts under 14 years of age will compete in the Junior class, Scouts 14 years or older will compete in the Senior class. The events will start promptly at 2 p.m. and we are certain that many of our youthful swimmers are in for a "splashing" good time.

Newton High School Opens Football Season At Arlington Saturday—Jepsen Not To Play

TALKING THINGS OVER—The Newton High squad listens intently to coach Huston and his assistants as they talk over the advantages of the "T" formation which will be used this season for the first time in the history of the school.

A green Newton High football team will unveil the 1948 Grid Season on Saturday afternoon at Arlington. Phil Jepsen, a junior, who was ineligible last year and who was expected to fill the full-back position, will be unable to play for at least three weeks because of a groin injury.

Coach Warren Huston, Newton High's second year football coach stated today that he will use for the first time in the history of the high school the "T" formation. On experience alone Newton should be strong. The "T" slick or sloppy, should decide the measure of success, Huston said.

With Jepsen out of the full-back position, Robert Evans is a likely candidate to fill that berth. Fran Tawner (185), another holdover, will be in at right halfback and Joe Wright (195) will patrol left halfback. The quarterback berth will probably be held down by Bill Fitzpatrick (160). Bill because of his ball handling will be a constant threat.

Newton looks forward to having a winning squad this year and if Coach Huston's "T" works out—well we'll see.

Experiment in Good Eating Habits of Young to Continue

An experiment in the teaching of good eating habits to children from kindergarten through high school will be continued for another three years in the schools of Newton, Mass., it was announced today. The experiment also will be extended to include a typical school system in the South.

Dr. Frederick J. Stare, Chairman of the Department of Nutrition in the Harvard School of Public Health, announced continuation of the research and said: "Right eating means good health and greater happiness for people everywhere. The most effective way of bringing this fact to the largest number of people is to teach sound nutrition to grade school youngsters." "Nutritional research has progressed rapidly during the last decade. But application of these new facts on nutrition to every day living has not kept pace. We believe sound nutrition education in the schools will help correct this situation."

Under Dr. Stare's direction, the Newton research project involves a study of the problems encountered in fitting nutrition education into regular school study courses; measuring the effectiveness of such education as a logical spearhead for other health education; and preparing teaching aids on nutrition for nationwide and possibly world-wide distribution.

A special grant-in-aid by Swift & Company will help provide for continuation of the research study at Newton and extension of the project to schools in some other part of the country. Dr. Stare announced today. The Nutrition Foundation, Inc., which sponsored the first three-year study at Newton also will share in supporting a new three-year nutrition education project.

"An understanding early in life of a few, simple nutritional principles will mean improved health later in life," Dr. Stare points out. "It is our belief that a subject as basic to health as good nutrition deserves consideration from kindergarten through college. Since food habits like other habits, are moulded early in life, it seems essential to have good nutrition taught early and taught well."

NUMBER 1 ON THE HIT PARADE

(In city traffic)

THE PEDESTRIAN is the principal victim on the city traffic fatality list. In cities over 40,000 population, two out of three persons killed in traffic are pedestrians. The effectiveness of a city's traffic safety program is largely measured by its traffic death rate. Adequately protecting the man on foot is the surest way to lower this rate.

Robert A. Chadbourne Named Head of Publicity Committee Of Red Feather Campaign

Robert A. Chadbourne has been appointed chairman of the Publicity Committee for the 1949 Red Feather Campaign in Newton, according to an announcement made this week by Riley Hampton, Newton Campaign chairman. Mr. Chadbourne is Field Secretary of the Associated Industries of Massachusetts, and was assistant chairman of the Publicity Committee for the 1948 campaign. He is a resident of Newtonville.

Assisting Mr. Chadbourne on the Publicity Committee are Mrs. William V. M. Fawcett, Mrs. Winslow Howland, Miss Marion Pike, Mrs. Dwight P. Merrill, Mrs. John Pfeiffer, Mrs. Clarence Smith, Mrs. Prescott H. Brown, Mrs. Eugene Copeland, Pierce J. Haley, Harold Gores, Edward P. Boulter, and Mrs. Sylvester McGill. H. J. Pettengill, Executive Director of the Chest, is a member of the Committee ex officio.

At the meeting of the Committee held at the Chest office Tuesday, September 14, Chairman Chadbourne announced that the theme around which the 1949 Campaign publicity would be built would be "Everybody Benefits, Everybody Gives." He also stated that the powers used in the Campaign would be more attractive this year than ever and would feature the slogan "Give—Give Enough." He discussed the various publicity pieces and outlined the publicity program prior to and during the Campaign.

Riley Hampton, Newton Campaign Chairman, attended the meeting and offered the suggestion to the Committee that the Red Feather Agencies give a special boost to the Campaign this year by contacting its members, beneficiaries, and friends and asking for extra support this year, when costs of operations are so high. The members of the Committee approved the plan and the Committee will take the matter up with the various agencies.

In closing the meeting, Mr. Chadbourne expressed his gratitude to the local newspapers for the excellent support which they are giving the Red Feather Campaign. "Without this fine support," Mr. Chadbourne commented, "the publicity efforts in connection with the Campaign would be seriously handicapped."

During the coming week meetings of workers in the Advance Gifts Division will be held as follows: Sunday, September 19 at 5 p. m., Newton Highlands workers at the home of Chairman E. A. Terkelsen; Sunday, September 19 at 8 p. m., Oak Hill workers at the home of Mrs. Victor Horst; Monday, September 20 at 8 p. m., Waban workers at the home of William H. Raye, Jr.; Tuesday, September 21 at 8 p. m., Auburndale workers at the home of Winslow Adams; Wednesday, September 22 at 8 p. m., Newtonville workers at the home of Walter P. Phillips; Thursday, September 23 at 8 p. m., Newton workers at the home of Dr. Allen P. Joslin; Sunday, September 26 at 5 p. m., Newton Centre workers at the home of Carol J. Hoffman; Sunday, September 26 at 8 p. m., West Newton workers at the home of Henry Shepard; Monday, September 27 at 8 p. m., Chestnut Hill workers at the home of Wallace Pierce.

Another meeting of importance to the Campaign will take place at a luncheon to be given on Wednesday, September 22 at one o'clock by Mrs. John C. Campbell at her home, 40 Sylvan avenue, West Newton. Mrs. Campbell, Chairman of the Mercantile Division, has invited her village and section chairmen to meet with Campaign Chairman Riley Hampton, for a discussion of Campaign plans preliminary to a series of village meetings of chairmen and workers between September 23 and October 3. At this meeting in addition to Mr. Hampton and the Mercantile chairmen there will also be Vincent Wentworth, Co-Chairman of the men's section, Mrs. Hugh Robertson, Chairman of Red Feather Tours, Mrs. Riley Hampton, Mrs. Catherine Hen, Executive Secretary of the Family Service Bureau, and H. J. Pettengill, Executive Director of the Chest. Mrs. Holden will tell these Campaign leaders of the work of the Family Service Bureau, and following the luncheon, a Red Feather Tour will be made of the Newton-Wellesley Hospital.

Program Outlines The Value of Milk

Guarding the family health and wealth in these days of rising food prices is the principal subject of an active public-service program being sponsored this fall by H.P. Hood & Sons. The Theme: Milk Gives You More For Your Money Than Any Other Food!

This campaign seeks to re-emphasize to New Englanders the even more important role milk now plays in protecting and promoting good health. The late Dr. Charles Mayo stated, and today's leading doctors agree, that milk contains more of the essentials of the day's diet than any other food. This, coupled with the fact that milk prices have not increased anywhere near as much as other food prices has led nutrition authorities to recommend that the less money there is to spend for food, the larger proportion of it should be spent for milk. Normally every child should drink at least one quart of milk daily... every adult at least one pint.

The Hood Company is telling the timely nutrition and economy story of milk over the radio, in booklets, newspapers, magazines and by illustrated lectures in

Will TAXES Take a Slice of Your Life Insurance?

Under the Federal estate tax law, your life insurance may be taxable.

An estate tax on the proceeds of your policies may reduce the amount payable to your life insurance beneficiaries unless your will provides otherwise. If you have set up your insurance under "optional modes" of settlement, the tax may also reduce income payments.

The possible taxation of your life insurance and its effect on your beneficiaries is only one thing you should consider in planning your estate. Other matters are equally important.

Come in with your attorney and discuss them at your convenience with one of our trust officers.

Covered bridges, familiar landmarks of serene country roads, are still an important factor in our country's transportation system. A recent study by the American Road Builders' Association reveals that those favorite spicing sites for grandma and grandpa have more than proved their worth, both economically and through records of service.

Favorite subject of landscape painters and a delight to amateur and professional photographers, these antiques of the road have by no means passed their prime of usefulness.

Contrary to popular belief, they did not originate in the United States. The first in this country was built in Pennsylvania about 1771. From there, the strain spread to New England where it flowered about 20 years later. Each of individual design, they are found on secondary roads from Maine to Oregon, and in other wooded sections of the world throughout the European and Asiatic continents. One of the oldest on record is located in Switzerland.

Although many of these highway veterans were not built according to modern engineering plans, they remain as testimony to the integrity and ingenuity of our country's first bridge builders.

Improvements in their construction have come about through the years, but the roofing of the bridge to protect the timbers has continued in practice. Styles of today's counterparts have also departed from those of their rustic forerunners. A far cry from the rude bridges that spanned New England's streams are those native to Oregon. A thrifty New Englander would have difficulty in accepting a covered bridge spotlessly painted white, with a green roof and gothic-type windows.

Oil-impregnated wooden pegs, termed "tree-nails," that formerly held planks and studding together, have given way to the supremacy of iron nails and bolts. But the load capacity of these hardy bridges has been found to be substantially above that anticipated by the original designer. Standard doorway dimensions were, categorically, as high and wide as a load of hay.

Many of them have fallen prey to floods, but it is well substantiated that these homespun structures ably withstand the ravages of spring freshets. Intact, a covered bridge will week. The block is progressing steadily the floor for the second story now being laid on the Institution Avenue front. The vault for a bank is completed at the extreme right of the Union Street front. The corner store which will be the largest in the block, if not in the city, will be occupied by float down a swollen stream to be later salvaged and reset on its original abutments or relocated.

Not all of them were designed to accommodate vehicular traffic. A few covered foot-bridges and railroad bridges are still in service. It is not uncommon, though, to see a pedestrian walk jutting out from one side of a covered bridge or railed off from the road-bed inside the main structure.

In the New England states alone, nearly 300 are still carrying a daily load of traffic. Actual figures are difficult to compile since many of these bridges are now privately owned. In other instances, townsfolk have taken these bridges into their hearts and preserved them by turning them into museums or store-houses. Thus they keep for posterity a bridge that has outlived its usefulness as a bridge.

Even sophisticated Los Angeles had a covered bridge, but its early demise was precipitated by the wear and tear of an increasing population. Covered bridges still exist in California, however, mostly in the northern part where lumber is cheap and plentiful. But many Californians are ignorant of their existence, so discovered S. Griswold Morley on a survey there in 1939. He counted as many as 30 bridges in one county.

There are also four California covered bridges which depart somewhat from the prescribed style in that they have iron roofs.

Highwaymen used them as favorite hangouts but travelers found that the robber often existed in the person of the gatekeeper if it were a toll bridge. Many such toll-bridges were privately owned. Townspeople, unwilling to tax themselves to pay for a bridge, were oftentimes aided by a private citizen who built the bridge and then charged the townsfolk for the right to cross it. The fees were usually modest, but occasionally a bridge-owner took advantage of his position and charged exorbitant fees.

Vermont's covered bridges are perhaps the most widely known. And although a great many were lost in the disastrous flood of 1927, the Green Mountain state ranks fourth in having the most still in service. Richard S. Allen of Round Lake, N. Y., leading statistician on covered bridges, places Ohio first with 592 covered bridges still in use. Pennsylvania ranks second with 336, Indiana third with 194 and Vermont, the smallest of the four, last with 170.

The covered bridge, antiquated and quaint as it may appear to the city dweller, stands out in its own defense. That they are still being constructed in some states is a matter of record.

About 10 years ago, the townspeople of Bennington, N. H., asked for a covered bridge. A WPA project supplied the requested bridge—the first to be constructed in New Hampshire in 80

Some 25 states from an original 30 have usable covered bridges today, and Canada, our northern neighbor, still champions the style and continues to build them.

Editor, Newton Graphic:

I am very sorry that I do not agree with the letter in your September 9th issue regarding the political column. I have been a reader of your paper for a great many years and still am.
I have always regarded Phil Carter's political column as an outstanding feature of the paper and have read it with much interest.

It has been well written and always has stated an interesting point of view. Many times it has contained things with which I do not agree but in Free America the right to disagree is a part of our freedom of the press, freedom of speech, and freedom of thought. I personally regret that the column is no longer in your paper.

Custodian Art and Industrial Dept. Providence Public Library; Assistant Librarian at Jacksonville, Florida; Assistant Librarian, Los Angeles, Calif.; Librarian
at Youngstown, Ohio; and at Baltimore, Maryland. He has frequently served as a consultant on library building problems and in the making of library surveys.

His planning of the new Enoch Pratt Library building was an important step forward in library architecture. The emphasis of the building was on the convenience of the user.

While in Newton, Mr. Wheeler met with the Library Board, the Building Committee of the Board of Aldermen, with the Mayor and the Newton Planning Board. The survey is related to the Long Range Planning of the City.

The complete survey will be made available to the Newton Planning Board and will be studied in detail by the Board of Library Trustees. The major points of the survey concern
the need for a new central library building and a suggestion that the new type of large trailer bookmobile could take the place of small branch libraries.

Following is the introductory summary and recommendations of the survey of library building problems (Central and Branches)
at Newton:

1. Newton, now approaching 100,000 population and certain to continue growth, is an exceptionally high class city and is so rated by students of civic progress. Its per capita wealth, number of years of education, high percent of home ownership and attention to home interests, all signify a high potential library-use city. The library must plan accordingly.

2. Library support and performance are not up to Newton's potential, by any means. During the depression it reached the American Library Association's standard of 12 books per capita circulation, but there has been some decline and the 1947 circulation was only 9.13 per capita. But Newton should look forward to a circulation of a million and a half library books a year.

3. Newton's separate villages have played an unusual part in community life. That there is no major rallying or shopping center, has given a false idea that Newton is not so greatly in need of the strong, adequate, modern central library building which other cities have. The central library has been sorely neglected physically and as to its services to the entire city. The whole status and growth of Newton's library have been strangled by neglect of central library.

4. Branch building has gone far beyond the national pattern.
The library service is spread out too thinly at too many expensively operated points: expensive
because the amount of service
each can give its small community is too small to warrant the original and annual operating expense except at Newton Centre and Newtonville. The other three, West Newton, Auburndale and Waban are fairly justified, but need careful study to build up amount and quality of service to better justify their support from the general library budget.

5. Citizens in all the villages of Newton should understand why any additional branch buildings or branch points would be a calamity. There are too many
now. The book service to the villages cannot be improved until the central library is taken care of after long neglect, for every branch depends upon central.

6. To determine needs, a branch can operate for a time in small quarters. Newton Highlands, Nonantum, Newton Upper Falls, Newton Lower Falls and Oak Hill have thus operated for several years. They are extraordinary burdens on too-small budget and should be discontinued, as branches. It is doubtful whether hospital library service can justify its salary expense; it could be put on a volunteer basis.
The school deposit collections, circulated from school class rooms, follow the national pattern, are doing good work and should be

turnover at each.

7. Service now given at the smaller branches and for profitable new points should be taken over by bookmobile or "branch library on wheels" service. Equipment costing $6,000 to $9,000, with careful scheduling to cover essential points in the city once a week, would bring 100,000 to 150,000 circulation a year, using part of the staff now tied up at the unprofitable points. Much fuller service, and the availability of two or three times as many recent books, will result for the thousands of readers who prefer not to use central or the five major branches.

8. At the 5 major branches every effort should be made to build up a larger proportion of adult non-fiction circulation, and strengthen reference services:
first, by a large book flow including verticle file, pamphlet and other reference stock, replenished frequently and discarded when out of date, but most of all, through the appointment of additional trained workers. The whole library staff is now too small.

9. A building program cannot be sensibly planned without careful understanding of the purposes, results and costs of present services. More thorough study of these is desirable than was possible in this present survey in the absence of cost data.
Such cost studies would reveal no unneeded help, but other important facts.

10. The $2.25 standard library support which the American Library Association recommends, for a city and service of this character, and which other cities have considerably exceeded, has not been reached in Newton.
This can be afforded and should materialize within a year or two. Staff salaries are totally inadequate (see Librarian's annual report) result: insufficient number of trained persons to develop important library services, particularly adult reference service, which is by no means up to the service to the children.

11. Young People's (I. E. high school age) service, specially planned and assigned, is practically untouched in so excellent a city, while other cities have forged ahead. In planning the new central building as well as in branch administration, this must be provided for.

12. The chief library problem in Newton is the central building, 80 years old, which never was efficiently planned, is a daily irritation to all who use it, does not take care of modern services, separates adult circulating and reference materials and services which have to be combined for the joint use of the main book collection, and handicaps every reader by the senseless climbing of stairs to reach the numerous confusing levels. Modern libraries give major adult service on the main floor, at sidewalk level.

13. The question of school library service deserves new consideration by library and school boards, jointly. Undoubtedly this should be operated by the public schools. If this were done and the present public library deposits for circulation from individual class rooms were continued, the public library would still have its own function of supplementing the school libraries
by encouraging all these pupils to use branches and central library more completely for material not in any schoolhouse.

Babson Discusses Schools

Babson Authentic Statement. Copyright 1948.

Publishers' Financial Bureau, Incorporated

As this is the last column which I shall write in Gloucester this year, I want to relieve my mind on something that has troubled me all Summer. It is concerning the utter lack of discipline and thoroughness which I note amongst the young people of Gloucester today compared with that of my boyhood.

TEACHERS DON'T HAVE TIME TO TEACH

I cannot now comment intelligently regarding the teaching and discipline within the school buildings; but I have seen enough this Summer of young people on the streets and at work to believe that teachers do not have sufficient time to drill, drill, and DRILL. They have too many interruptions and are obliged to teach too many subjects to do thorough work in any one. School committees are too much influenced by text book publishers. They should do less to amuse the kids and more to serve the taxpayers.
In fact, I believe that we are making life too easy for our young people.

Psychologists assure me that young people know what is right and what they should do and should not do. These experts prove this statement by reminding me that when boys destroy property, lie, steal and make themselves a nuisance, they always run away as soon as they see anyone coming. In other words, young people do not need to be taught what is right and wrong so much as they need to learn to control and to discipline themselves.

WHAT ABOUT CORPORAL PUNISHMENT

For centuries the old-fashioned switch, cane or whip has been used to instill discipline. If it never had been used in the past, I would not recommend its adoption today; but considering that human nature has been dependent for centuries on such correction and punishment, experts on heredity say that it is absolutely foolish to try to get on today, in our public schools, without corporal punishment.

School committees, principals and teachers make various excuses. In some States corporal punishment may be against the law and, of course, any teacher is subject to being sued if, in temper, he or she abuses a pupil. However, school committees can take out liability insurance to protect teachers against any such suits. Some few parents will complain at having their dear children "whipped"; but instead of being influenced by these few, why could not a school committee take a vote of all parents and see what the great majority would desire? When such a vote is taken in a community, I hope to be told the result.

LONGER SCHOOL HOURS MAY BE WISE

When I went to school we were in the building from nine to twelve in the morning and from two to four in the afternoon. We had very few books to take home. Our study hall was supervised and we learned there in one hour what would take two hours to learn at home. Moreover, in those days there was no radio at home to distract us, nor were there automobiles movies to tempt us. Would it not be well to return to afternoon sessions and supervised study, especially in view of the coming television? A girl may be able to study while the old radio is going, but she certainly can't study while watching television!

Parents would like to have some of the "frill" studies omitted, but with perfection stressed in a few important studies. As an employer of many people, I find that they have a smattering of a lot of subjects but are proficient in none. I am beginning even-to question the value of vocational courses as now set up. I believe in an assignment of outside work, selected newspaper reading, certain worthwhile movies and radio talks, requiring the scholars to report thereon. The trips to factories and stores, which were given when I was in high school, would still be very useful. Most important of all, school committees should rate high quality of teaching above the attainment by teachers of college degrees. Achievement in producing good students through experience and love for the students, is far more important than the ability to get much overrated academic degrees.

The need was met by borrowing blood from another bank and by lining up donors with the proper type of blood.

Needs such as this come all too frequently and sometime unless Newton residents help support the blood program, the consequences are liable to be serious. 35 percent more donors are giving their blood this year than last, indicating their faith in the need for the program. However, requests for blood have increased 50 percent. Hospitals are averaging 7 pints of blood per patient. The following industries have indicated their approval of the program and are cooperating by trying to secure donors: Ucinite Co., Rose-Derry Co., Futurity Thread Co., Inc., Gamewell Co., Greenfield's Inc., Raytheon Mfg. Co., Bachrach, Stowe-Woodward, Inc., and John T. Lodge Co.

The following agencies are cooperating too: Community Chest, Community Council, Newton-Wellesley Hospital, Y.M.C.A., Newton Nutrition Centre, the School Department and U.V.O.N. There is an urgent need for 15 more donors. Appointments are available between the hours of 1 to 3 p.m. and 4 to 5 p.m. This was the day scheduled to help make up the deficit. Newton has used since the first of March, 700 pints of blood as whole blood, plasma, immune serum (for the control of measles). During the same period, Newton secured 259 pints of blood. Emergencies such as Saturday's must be met.

Sutton's Adds Room For Private Parties

Paul Sutton has added a new service: A private room with special menus for parties, afternoon or evening. When you think about Continental food of pleasing variety and tempting seasoning remember Sutton's. Paul Sutton's aim is to prepare selected foods as you will find them in the best hotels and at reasonable prices. He insists on an orderly and refined atmosphere where all the family may come. For private dining room for special parties up to 90 call Stadium 2-4906 for reservations. You'll like it at Sutton's in Allston.

Capt. Blood—

Warning Region of Wilmington, North Carolina.

Going overseas with the 653d Bombing Squadron of the eighth Air Force to the European Theatre, he was the Group Intelligence Officer until his return to the United States in July 1945.

Transferring to the 20th Fighter Group at Biggs Air Force Base, Texas, in the same capacity, Captain Blood remained there until September 1946 when he became an Air Intelligence Instructor at the Air University at Craig Air Force Base, Alabama. In December 1947, he became Adjutant of the 501st Airdrome Group at the same base and remained in that position until June of this year when he went overseas.

Sailing from San Francisco aboard the United States Transport, General Greely, Captain Blood was initiated into the Society of the Golden Dragon, a ceremony which marks the crossing of the international dateline, or 180th meridian, for the first time. He arrived in Yokohama, July 26, and was immediately assigned to FEAF in his present position.

A 1935 graduate of Brighton High School, Brighton, Captain Blood was employed with the F. L. Dunne Co. of Boston in 1935 and 1936 until he became a merchandise controller with the firm of Gilchrist and Co., Boston, where he remained until his entry into the service in 1941.

An enthusiastic sportsman, Captain Blood has played golf on the Koganei Course about 20 miles from Tokyo and finds it comparable to American courses. Lessons are obtainable from Japanese professionals for very small fees. "I can't get accustomed to the Japanese using girls for caddies instead of boys,"

Expect to Complete Post Office Shortly

Improvements now being made in the enlargement of the Newton Corner Post Office building will give adequate facilities for the postal needs of this section of the city for years to come.

The work now going on is expected to be completed soon after October 1.

Much of the credit for the enlargement project must go to Samuel Marshall, owner of the premises and well known realtor of Newton property. He is expending a large sum of money for renovation of the building and believes the enlargement will prove beneficial to the mail service in the area which the Post Office serves.

smiled the captain, "I feel uncomfortable."

Swimming and skiing are also favorites of Captain Blood and he has found very fine pools available to occupation personnel in Tokyo. In the winter he hopes to visit Akakura, where some of the best skiing is open to personnel billeted in the hotel there for rest leave.

At present living in Army Hall, the former billet for the Imperial Japanese Guard of the Palace, then known as Gunjin Kalkan, Captain Blood looks forward to the arrival of his wife, Frances, and daughters, Susan, 2, and Patricia, 1, in the near future. They will be billeted in government housing built especially for married occupation personnel.

Discussion—

ton High, Thomas Derr, Fred Stephens, Ruth Angier, alternate; Our Lady's High, Ann Morrison and Robert Neville.

Dr. Edward Landy, director of counselling services in the Newton schools, will ask these young people very pertinent questions concerning their leisure time activities. We know that Newton offers many varied opportunities for youth itself we will have national facilities and trained leadership. Maybe existing advantages are not fully utilized. Have we unmet obligations? From the lips of youth itself we will have the chance to learn what is on the minds of our boys and girls.

Besides having a chance to speak their minds the participants will be put on the spot, or asked to defend themselves, by key people in the community. Mr. Harold Gores, assistant superintendent of schools, will summarize the proceedings, and it is hoped and expected that from this meeting will come definite conclusions and recommendations.

This meeting is open to the public.

Group

sociation and the election of officers and selection of a Cubmaster, Sunday, Sept. 26 at the home of Fred Harvey, 21 Pilgrim road, Waban.

The object of the Association is as follows: To include in its membership all parents in Waban who have boys that may become Cubs; to include all individuals in Waban who may have an interest in building a strong Cub organization, to carry on a cooperative program of sponsorship for Cub activities with the Boy Scouts of America; to develop and perpetuate a Pack committee in its membership who will be responsible for the year to year planning of future Cub activities; to encourage the closer relationship of Cub to Scout growth and parent interest in this Cub to Scout growth.

It was pointed out that the younger parents and newer residents of Waban should join in this interest. Parents who have boys coming along but not of Cub age (9-12 years) are asked to join. Those people who are interested in the future training, education, and community interest of our boys should join. All are invited.

Mr. Tyng explained the Norumbega Council of Boy Scouts would provide training to those mothers and fathers who will join in Den and Pack work. Executives of the Council will personally come to the Angier School to conduct these meetings in the near future.

The third Friday of each month starting October 15 will be Cub Pack night at the Angier School Auditorium, until April, 1949.

Mr. Parkinson said, "Cub and Scout work is the leading civic duty of all young parents in our community. We want all mothers and fathers to know about this program. They can find this out by coming to our training and pack meetings and offering to be den mothers and den fathers."

A music committee, Membership committee and Planning committee will be appointed by the Chairman for the season's work. It is expected the General Electric House of Magic, High School band concert, Sun Valley Skiing and Jujitsu demonstrations will be included for the boys and parents as part of the education and entertainment at Pack business meetings. Other events are planned.

Questions were asked Scout Executive Tyng of why the Norumbega Council did not provide more interesting activities and personal touch with 3-year Cubs, those Cubs who are to graduate to Scouts. Why Cubs should not be taken to Nobscott reservation. Why Cubs should not be led into camping and outdoor activities by the Scout leadership. Why the Council should charge for Cub educational material. It was food for thought.

Those who signed the articles of organization were: Styphan A. Tyng, Carlton Ray, Maurice O'Brien, John M. Parkinson, Hyman Horwitz, Kenneth W. Rogers, A. Peter Williams, Fred T. Harvey.

My clothes hamper has a peculiar odor, although it's fairly new. How can I get rid of it or do you think it's there to stay?

Wash the hamper thoroughly with mild soap and water. Use a soft brush if necessary. Rinse well, dry and leave in the sun several hours. Do this several times a year.

Sensible Use of Law Needed, Coolidge

Old-timers in Newton remember all about cracker-barrels, the brown jug they took to the corner grocery to have it filled with molasses, and the kerosene can with a raw potato stuck on the snout. Those homely items of day-by-day life are in the past, to be sure, but everyone knows what Lieutenant Governor Arthur Coolidge means by his "cracker barrel" tours of the state.

There used to be a lot of politics talked at the corner grocery and in the country store, and what Mr. Coolidge has been doing is to talk "politics" and government the same way—by meeting plain folks face to face and talking understandable "cracker barrel" language. The barrels of crackers and the hogsheads of molasses have disappeared, but the home-folks and the things they stood for in their day are still the heart and soul of American government.

It clicks in plain-thinking minds when Mr. Coolidge tells them: "This is a very practical matter. Every housewife knows that she can't go to the corner store and get a basketful of food by calling names and making wise-cracks. What is needed is not a lot of new laws, but some sensible use of executive powers."

If you had placed an ad in a newspaper a few generations back you would have spoken of it as a "notice". Our term advertising comes from the French "advertir" which means to notify.

"When my Dolly grows up

'LECTRIC BLANKET,
'LECTRIC RANGE,
'LECTRIC..."

Mary Jane has just summed up one reason why our electric companies have to keep everlastingly planning and building for the future. Year after year we all use more electricity. And to meet this steadily increasing demand there is an immense expansion program under way right now in every New England state. By 1952 this new generating capacity will deliver an additional 834,000 kilowatts. And planning has already begun for the future needs of Mary Jane and her generation.

NOW BUILDING! More Electricity—834,000 KILOWATTS more—coming from New England's electric plants by 1952! This expansion program will bring total resources of our six state neighbors up to more than FOUR MILLION KILOWATTS—ample safeguard for a bright electrical future.

A Shopping I Would Go!

Here is the something new, for you, the shoppers of Newton. No doubt you are deep in the throes of shaking out mothballs and sweeping away the summer dust from under the rugs. It's fall again and time, not only for new columns, but also for new clothes, new hairdos, and new "everything's". I have been looking around the Newtons, and think I have a few helpful hints that will make shopping a pleasure. I will try, in time, to cover everything from pie pans to the most pleasant of all purchases, a new hat. All of us at the Graphic, and especially me, are ready and waiting for any suggestions you may have. Do write in, and happy shopping.

Nydia Beauty Salon

847a Beacon Street

It's time for you summer mermaids to comb out the salt and sand and get ready for this season's short, smart hairdos. Nydia prescribes a shaping, a soft permanent, and a few oil treatments to start you on your merry way. There's a new type of permanent now which insures a more natural wave. It's called radar and is really wonderful. But let's not overlook our hands. A manicure, not just every so often, but once a week keeps your nails neat and lovely. Somehow I think that's one of the most important things. No matter how pretty your new suit is, badly kept nails spoil the effect. You can kill two birds with one stone if you get your manicure while under the dryer. Make your appointment a standing one every week to look your best every day.

There's a treat in store for you at Mace's. Hundreds of soft, fluffy, Wamsutta towels in every size and color available. And Oh, those colors, warm grays, creamy yellows, cheery greens, in fact you name it, they have it. Both the textured designs and the solids will add a note of richness to your bathroom. Your personal touch is your initials in handsome letters. These are the nicest towels I've seen in ages, and well worth looking into. Needless to say they make a lovely gift for a special occasion.

Hale's Newton Centre Wellesley Hills

When you enter a shop full of friendly people and bursting with music, that's Hale's. I dropped by for a few minutes and spent an hour. First of all there are marvelous television sets, and who can pass them by? Then there is a big array of beautiful radios, from the smallest portable to the largest combinations. Just think how attractive one of them would look in your home. But to top the whole thing off there are records, records, and more records. Three comfortable booths make listening even more of a pleasure. Be you a Brahms lover or a boogie fiend, there are records for you. I discovered big albums with songs from my favorite shows. I found operas, Tommy Dorsey, and the greatest symphonies. I even played some old square dances and enjoyed them immensely. Everyone should start his own little record library, and don't be hesitant about different types, for you will soon find that all music contains a special kind of satisfaction. I came home with an armload of favorites to start my collection. The investment will bring many happy hours to my home. Yours will bring the same to you.

Bring in last year's bonnet also for an expert retrim. Accessories in the way of bags and jewelry are in abundance. In fact everything chic and up-to-date is there, and waiting for you to bring it home.

Newton Flower Shop

323 Walnut Street
Newtonville

I came across a lovely flower shop the other day, which I must mention. It contains everything from a luxurious chrysanthemum plant to the sweetest rosebud. If you are having a party, why not add a bouquet of brightness to your table as a finishing touch? Perhaps your son is going to that big dance. Send him to the Newton Flower Shop, for they remember the slimmest of a schoolboy's pocketbook, and will help him make the "right" choice. Fall weddings are in full swing now, and that spells beautiful flowers. I noticed an array of bridesmaids' bouquets in soft, warm colors that made me catch my breath. And what could be more perfect than the simplicity of a white orchid, clasped to a prayer book, for the bride. There are a million ideas to be used, each one nicer than the last. The whole shop is full of cheer. Why not drop in and bring a little of it home with you? I did.

There are vases galore in every thinkable color and a collection of cut glass that you will rave over. I can't think of a nicer place to go for a pleasant hour of browsing.

which met all requirements and sold 300,000 units. After the watch strap was well under way, they revived an old idea they had back in 1940 pertaining to drying clothes in a vacuum. They soon set as their goal an automatic washing machine which would not only wash clothes cleaner than any automatic on the market but would also dry them drier and more gently yet would sell at a price well within the reach of the average family.

They started work early in 1946 with high hopes and what appeared to be enough capital to produce a working model. By November 1946 they had tried and discarded a dozen ideas and crude models and had run through their capital.

While Wally continued work on new models back in Connecticut, Jim journeyed to Cleveland to solicit new capital and succeeded in convincing the executives of Thompson Products and Firestone that they were close to a final design. Therefore in March of 1947 they shifted operations from Connecticut to Ohio.

The entire washing machine industry was struck by the simplicity of the novel principle and by March of 1948 Bendix Home Appl. purchased the machine for a down payment of $500,000 with additional yearly payments to follow, depending on volume for the next 20 years. Wally and Jim are not resting on their laurels by a long shot. They now have coming along in their development laboratory in Cleveland (a revolutionary disposable diaper which has already passed clinical tests with flying colors, (b) an alternating air mattress for preventing bed sores on bedridden patients, (c) a washerless faucet which may go for 15 years or more without any attention, (d) an inexpensive pump which has no seals and may be adapted to any small pump application.

Their most recent achievement is the production of a motion picture, presented to the Republican Convention in Philadelphia and designated as the official campaign film. It is entitled "New Instruments of Power" and deals a terrific wallop to Communism. Although details on the Rand washer are top-secret at the moment, it is automatic, noiseless, vibrationless, and the smallest standard machine made. It weighs 100 pounds and can handle nine pounds of wash.

The washing machine will be in production by October, will be announced by December or January and will sell for well under $200. District of the Salvation Army; Mrs. Andrew Y. Atwell, co-chairman of the Metropolitan Division; William A. Nicol, Executive Director of the Greater Boston Division; Mayor Theodore R. Lockwood, and Rupert C. Thompson, Secretary of the Newton Chamber of Commerce. Philip Jamieson, a former General Chairman, was also present.

Among those whom Mr. Edwards asked to speak were Mayor Lockwood, Major Nelson, the guest speaker, Mrs. Andrew Y. Atwell, William A. Nicol and Rupert C. Thompson. All praised the splendid relief work carried on by the Salvation Army and cited it as a cause that deserved all possible financial assistance from citizens throughout the Greater Boston area. All were convinced, too, that Newton "would do itself proud."

"During the evening, a Salvation Army band, made up of groups from the various Metropolitan districts, provided most enjoyable music.

"The drive," which began last Monday and will continue until October 3rd, will be spurred by frequent meetings of chairmen, co-chairmen and captains. Details will be ironed out; important pointers that will enhance the efforts of workers will be passed along to those "on the firing line"; and reports of progress will be discussed and analyzed.

One such meeting is announced by Mrs. Edward G. Huber, who heads the Residential Division. Mrs. Huber will be hostess to about twenty chairmen and co-chairmen at a luncheon next Monday in her home, 45 Homewood road, Waban. Following the luncheon there will be an extended business meeting. Mrs. Huber states that home meetings of various groups are conducive to that closer acquaintance which makes for better understanding and, consequently, better teamwork. She is so confident of the advantages of such gatherings that she is urging all captains to get together periodically in order to make their leadership more effective and so encourage their workers to even greater efforts in the campaign to put Newton "over the top."

Newton High Meets Rindge Saturday

Newton High will attempt to start its victory football parade Saturday afternoon when it meets Rindge at the local stadium in its opening home game of the season.

Despite its loss to a big Arlington team last Saturday, enthusiasts are confident the local boys will make a good record before the season ends.

All Autos Must Be Inspected Next Month

All motor vehicles other than school buses must be submitted for the second periodic inspection of 1948 at some time during the month of October provided they are registered in this Commonwealth prior to November 1st, and are operated on the highways any time during the month of October. These inspections are made exclusively by "Official Inspection Stations".

Equipment Inspectors of the Registry of Motor Vehicles check inspection stations constantly in September and October.

The check-up in September covers the fitness and preparedness of the station. The check-up in October covers the actual inspection work of the station. This station supervision is one of the utmost importance because it controls the kind of inspection work which the stations perform. The October inspection will be the greatest on record and car owners should submit their vehicles for inspection at the earliest possible moment in October.

Those who delay will find the inspection stations jammed with work towards the end of the month and may be seriously inconvenienced, but no excuse will be accepted on or after November 1st, if the inspection sticker must be displayed on the lower right hand corner of the windshield.

Last October 4,543 were prosecuted in the courts of our Commonwealth for not having their inspection sticker displayed on their windshields November 1st.

Washington wags claim that the biggest fish story of the year concerns Mr. Truman's "Red Herring" that jumped out of a third story window to escape the unholy Soviet seine.

Rescind Approval, Votes to Oppose Plan for Newtonville Sq. Restaurant

Among the actions taken at the September 15 meeting of the Executive Committee of the Newtonville Improvement Association were motions adopted to reconsider its approval, voted at its June meeting, of the proposed restaurant, with waiting room and comfort facilities, in the center of Newtonville Square.

Following an extended discussion and largely as a result of further consideration of the project during the summer, the Executive Committee voted unanimously, by a vote of 18 to 0, to rescind its previous approval, and to oppose the erection of the restaurant at this location, the junction of Walnut and Washington streets. A telephone poll of those members absent revealed four additional votes in opposition to the project and two members still in favor.

At this meeting, also, a letter was read from the corresponding secretary of the Newtonville Women's Club, stating that "the official Board of the Club voted on September 14 to ask the Newtonville Improvement Association to exert all effort possible to prevent the erection of a lunch room" at this location.

Arguments against the proposed restaurant and waiting room in the center of Newtonville square, were:

Many nearby towns and cities are opening up and beautifying their public squares.

An all-night restaurant in the center of Newtonville Square would be unnecessary, not ornamental, and a possible liability in the future.

1. Such a restaurant, waiting room and comfort station is unnecessary at this location.

(a) Five or six restaurants are already, or soon will be in operation within a short distance of the proposed location.

(b) All are open until six or eight p. m., and one until midnight.

(c) A comfort station is available at the Railroad Station until 11:15 p. m.; two nearby garages have comfort stations open until 12 or 1 a. m.; Dell restaurant is open until midnight.

(d) Bus lines do not run past this location after 1 a. m. No trains after 11:15 p. m.

(e) The present waiting room can, if necessary be enlarged and improved.

(f) There is no guarantee of night operation of either the proposed restaurant, comfort station, or waiting room, if such operation is inconvenient or unprofitable.

2. The erection of such a building at this location would be detrimental to the appearance of Newtonville square.

(a) There could be no certainty signs that could be set up on or above the building, except that they could not be more than seven feet above the roof.

(b) It would adversely affect the beauty of the surroundings of the nearby Methodist church.

(c) There is no guarantee that the appearance of this building or its immediate surroundings would be kept up, either by its first owners, or by those who might come later.

3. The erection of such a building at this location is a possible liability for the future.

(a) There could be no certainty that this new restaurant venture would succeed in the face of present competition.

(b) The land, being re-zoned, could be used for any business purpose, such as an open air market, news-stand, auto accessory store, laundry, etc.

(c) With this precedent, it is possible that similar buildings could be erected all along the south side of Washington street in Newtonville and West Newton. This would detract much from the appearance of Washington street, and would cause some traffic congestion on this main thoroughfare.

4. Parking accommodations are non-existent at this corner.

(a) The possible parking of large trucks at night, with their drivers eating at this restaurant, would create bad traffic conditions.

5. A positive plan for beautifying this and adjoining locations is under way.

"The job of setting up an organization of over 1400 people to plan and direct our 240 separate Halloween parties in which more than 10,000 children will participate," said Mrs. Hovgaard, "is stupendous. But we're doing it. And, with the invaluable cooperation of the School Department, the Mayor and other city officials, civic organizations and innumerable civic mindful citizens, the machinery should be in top running order before long. I'm confident this year's parties will be the best yet. And I can safely say that, because even at this early date the fine spirit and great enthusiasm being shown by all concerned can't help but make this fall's celebration a record breaker. This year, the annual Fund Concert of this group is planned for Friday, Dec. 10th, when the Zimble String Sinfonietta will play a program of music by Arensky, Mozart, Vivaldi, and a new suite by Aaron Copeland, who will be present at this first performance of his composition. 81 Bloods Procured At Mobile Unit

Newton citizens endorsed the Red Cross Blood Program and demonstrated their interest on Friday, when the Mobile Unit was at the Chapter House. Chapter officials expressed a sincere "thank you" to everyone. 111 Donors were scheduled and 81 Bloods were procured. The Volunteer Service co-operated at the Chapter House as usual. Additional appointments have been made at Newton-Wellesley Hospital by Red Cross to bring the total up to 100 points which was the goal.

The following industries sent donors: Gamewell Company, Ucinite Company, Raytheon Mfg. Co., Stowe-Woodward Inc., Rose-Derry Company. Agencies that were represented - Community Chest, Boy Scouts, Community Council, Y. M. C. A. and Service Clubs. The Junior Red Cross assisted in procuring donors among teachers and friends, and the Newton Nutrition Centre arranged a very attractive display along the theme of "Be a Good Blood Donor" - the idea being that poor diet is reason many are rejected.

Newton High Eleven Wins Over Rindge

By MARVIN R. GOULD

Before some 5,000 ardent fans a powerful Newton High eleven defeated a highly overated Rindge Tech squad by a score of 14-0 at Dickinson Memorial Stadium, Newton, last Saturday afternoon.

A Rindge fumble on the kickoff was recovered by Newton's Bob Evans on the 24 yard marker of the Tech men. Bob Shan-non crashed through center to the 15 yard stripe after an end run by Frankie Tanner brought the ball to the Rindge 17. Dan Coffey carried on the next play to the 5. A quarterback sneak by Coffey was good for the tally. Chuck Morrissey's boot for the conversion failed. For the remainder of the chapter neither team moved deep enough into the others territory to threaten a score.

Rindge held possession of the pigskin for most of the second canto but the powerful Newton line kept them out of Garden City territory for the remainder of the half.

In 1947 Newton-Wellesley Hospital, although desperately overcrowded, managed to accommodate 8,182 in-patients, the highest number on record. Operating expenses overstepped the million dollar mark for the first time and the deficit was the largest in the hospital's history.

Since our community's hospital first opened its doors to patients 62 years ago as one of the earliest voluntary, non-profit institutions in the state, the non-governmental hospitals, such as Newton-Wellesley, have become indispensable to the country's health services. Where as 50 years ago only in cases of extreme emergency would one even think of a hospital, people today consider their hospital as the guardian of their well-being.

Statistics show that in 1873 there were 178 hospitals in the United States. Today there are 2,921 voluntary non-profit hospitals.

NEWTON WILL OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

Proclamation

WHEREAS Fire Prevention Day has been observed since October 9, 1911, the fortieth anniversary of the great Chicago fire of 1871; and

WHEREAS the Fire Marshals Association of America, the Presidents of the United States, the Governors and others in authority have sought earnestly to bring to the public the needed lessons of fire prevention;

NOW, THEREFORE, I, Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor, do hereby PROCLAIM the week of October 3rd to 9th, of 1948 as Fire Prevention Week and urge that activities take place revealing the causes of fire waste in terms of loss of life, injury and economic waste; That all the public may understand the simpler causes of fire and be informed as to precautions to be taken in prevention of fire and the protection of life and property against fire; To the end that each individual do all possible to reduce the danger of fire; that the community as a whole reduce its fire losses; And that all citizens recognize the incentive and opportunity for individual activity and cooperation.

Will Work To Serve D.P.'s Who Come To America

"It has been estimated that from 40,000 to 100,000 displaced persons will come to the United States during 1948 under federal legislation passed in the closing days of the 80th Congress," Frank A. Day, of the Executive Committee of the Newton Y.M.C.A., stated recently. "This law permits the entrance for citizenship of up to 205,000 displaced persons and political refugees before July 1, 1950 and gives permanent status to as many as 15,000 D.P.'s already here on temporary visas.

"There are in D. P. camps in Germany, Austria, and Italy some 800,000 people," Mr. Day said, "about half of them in American occupation centers. Of these about 20 per cent are Jewish, 15 to 20 per cent Protestants, and 60 to 65 per cent Roman Catholics. They came primarily from Poland, the Baltic States, Jugoslavia and Russia. Most of them spent the war years as prisoners of war, political internees, or in forced labor battalions. Others fled from their homes as the Russian armies advanced. They all refuse to return home because of lack of sympathy with the ideologies of the present governments of their nations or because of fear of political or religious persecution.

"That the vast majority of D.P.'s will be able to work and give full value to any nation wise enough and far-sighted enough

National Fire Prevention Week this year is from October 3rd to the 9th. It is during this time all over our nation people are reminded of our past years' fire loss of property and lives. They are also requested to join the "Fight Against Fire" and help stop many of the needless fires from starting.

Memorial Day has a very close significant relation to Fire Prevention, because on this day many of the new graves to be decorated will have been victims of Death due to fires. Death that might have been averted if someone had taken heed to remove a known fire hazard or had practiced safety in handling dangerous articles.

The exceedingly large number of reported fires and the number of fires that are not reported in the United States gives us a record that has no rival in any other country.

Mayor Can Take No Further Action

Mayor Lockwood received a petition, signed by citizens of Newton last Friday reading as follows:

"We, the undersigned, citizens of Newton, respectfully request you, Theodore R. Lockwood, Mayor, to call a special meeting of the Board of Aldermen on or before the 27th day of September, 1948, to act on the confirmation of your appointment of Philip Purcell as Chief of Police of Newton. Knowing that you requested the Civil Service Commission to extend the present Lieutenants' list to October 1, we feel that the action of the Board on Monday evening, September 20, 1948, in refusing to suspend the rules and act on this outstanding appointment, creates a situation which perpetuates a grave injustice on three ranking officers of the Police Department with records of long and faithful service."

The circumstances are as follows: The appointment of the nominee for Police Chief was made by the Mayor within fifteen minutes after he was in a Live or Die?

In a recent conversation the statement was made that caution seldom goes far enough. This phrase made a grave impression on me. How true this is today in regards to driving! The highways are blazoned with warnings and signs. However, many well meaning individuals fail to heed these admonishments.

Think of the dire consequences that ensue if a driver did not go far enough. When approaching an intersection if the driver looked to the right and then neglected to look in the other direction before proceeding, it is a gruesome thing to visualize the results; but this thought should have a sobering affect to all motorists — There would be a terrific screeching of metal upon metal; a rushing sound of the still turning wheels of the overturned car; a mass of twisted auto wreckage. The corpus delicti would be so dismembered and so horrible to witness that I shall leave that ghastly sight to your imagination.

Many motorists fail to think of the horrible consequences that might result from the failure to employ caution. We must think of it! The accident rates are rising alarmingly. According to information compiled by Rudolph King, registrar of motor vehicles, the greatest causes for accidents are excessive speed, and accidents traced directly to alcohol. Drivers between the ages of sixteen and twenty-two constitute the largest per capita accident rate.

Caution should always be used when a person is in the driver's seat. He owes it not only to himself and the occupants of his car, but particularly to the thousands of drivers on the road. It is a terrible thing to have innocent victims die due to the fault of some reckless driver. At a crossing a hasty glance is given with the foot on the accelerator trusting to luck that no one is there, or if there is another "contestant", hoping to be the "winner". This is a childish and ridiculous way, in addition to being hazardous, for people who consider themselves to be adults, to conduct themselves. Yet people persist in their daredevil tactics. Accidents must be minimized. It is up to you!

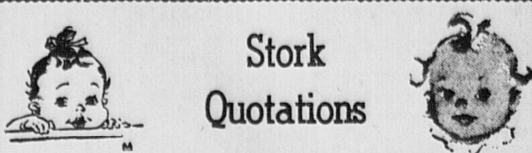

Autumn Vacations in Massachusetts

Autumn vacations are rapidly becoming big business in Massachusetts, because people in increasing numbers regard our state as an all year-round vacation land. And, of course, the money that tourists and vacationers spend in Massachusetts represents an important income item in the economy of our Commonwealth.

Thus the report of the Massachusetts Development and Industrial Commission that inquiries about fall vacations have increased is encouraging to a recreation industry which already ranks sixth among the industries of the State. Salt water fishing is said to account for between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000 of Massachusetts recreational income.

The Commission has already received more than 3300 inquiries about autumn vacation possibilities. The Cape Cod Chamber of Commerce has distributed some 2000 copies of its new booklet, "Indian Summer." The Berkshires, Nantucket and Martha's Vineyard are also finding business better than usual.

Brilliant autumn foliage, exciting fishing berberies and our numerous historic shrines present an irresistible lure which brings more and more tourists to the Commonwealth. A Massachusetts vacation is a profitable venture for everyone!

Financial Record of County

As the editor of a newspaper doing business in Middlesex County, you will, I believe, be interested in the financial record of the County. I am consequently enclosing a copy of the Abstract of Receipts and Expenditures of Middlesex County for the year 1947.

The County tax for 1947 was $2,277,249.35 as compared with the tax of $2,188,754.31 for 1946. This increase was caused by higher prices of food and other supplies, by increases in salaries and wages, and increased cost due to the normal growth in the volume of county business. The tax of $2,277,249.35 for 1947 compares with the peak in 1931 of $2,351,884.70. Middlesex County thus had a lower tax in 1947 than it had 16 years ago.

The debt of Middlesex at the close of the year 1947 was $25,000, as compared with the peak of $2,024,600, in 1932. This is the lowest Middlesex County debt in 65 years, that is, since 1882. At the present moment the remaining amount of $25,000 has been paid so that Middlesex County has no long term debt. There are short term, temporary loans outstanding, which will be paid before the end of 1948. The debt of the Middlesex County Tuberculosis Hospital District at the end of the year was $69,800 as compared with the peak in 1932 of $1,708,900.

The satisfactory financial situation of Middlesex County is due to the constant effort of your County officials and employees for sound economical administration.

Charles P. Howard, County Treasurer.

Hospital—

One out of every 10 persons in the nation entered a hospital last year and most of them went to voluntary, non-profit institutions. According to the American Hospital Association, the demand for hospital care has increased 50 percent since 1940.

The scope of medical service has widened. The voluntary hospitals of today, serving to prevent as well as to cure disease, no more resemble their early beginnings than does the shiny new ambulance the old horse and buggy.

Considerable insight can be gained into the problems that today beset your Newton-Wellesley and other voluntary, non-profit hospitals by turning back the pages of history to examine the fascinating evolution of these institutions which, without profit and as a community service, today provide care for 60 percent of all hospital patients in Massachusetts—and which emerged from the war as one of the ten top industries in the United States.

The voluntary hospitals were established originally for the care of the sick poor—those who could not afford to have adequate nursing care at home. They were founded and voluntarily supported by churches, fraternal or racial groups or by philanthropic individuals on behalf of the community's needy.

The first U. S. hospital of this type was opened in Philadelphia in 1751. Voluntary hospitals had their beginnings in Massachusetts in the same century when, in 1796, the Boston Dispensary was established to give "medical advice and relief to the sick poor." Although it had no inpatient facilities, this charitable service was the germ of an idea that spread. As early as 1803 the Dispensary physicians were recommending vaccination against small pox.

Massachusetts has always taken the medical lead in teaching, research and patient care. It was in a Boston hospital—the Massachusetts General, that some of the most significant discoveries in the history of medicine were made. It was at this institution, the third voluntary hospital to be founded in the United States, that ether first was used as an anesthetic; that the first operation for appendicitis took place; that important discoveries were made in the field of alcoholic neuritis, tumor research, child-bed fever and the preparation of sterile dressings in operations. Many other "first" discoveries and rapid advancements were made at other Boston institutions.

A patient is rushed here from California to have a splinter removed from his eye at the Eye and Ear Infirmary. From all sections of the country, infants have been flown to Children's Hospital for replacement of blood in RH negative or "blue baby" cases. Patients come from the world over to receive treatment at Dr. Elliott P. Joslin's diabetes clinic at the Deaconess Hospital. Newton-Wellesley Hospital is altogether fortunate in its location, as it has access to skills and techniques that have established the Boston area as a leading medical center. The Newton-Wellesley Hospital School of Nursing, now internationally known for the excellent bedside care which its graduates, over a 60-year period, have been prepared to give, was among the earliest community schools of nursing in the country.

The voluntary hospitals, now indispensable in the American pattern of living, had similar beginnings.

The founding of Massachusetts General Hospital, for example, was undertaken in 1812 by a group of prominent citizens, including Dr. James Jackson and John C. Warren, who circulated a letter asking for donations to build a charitable hospital to care for "sick and mentally ill patients who were under the care of the state."

Your Newton-Wellesley Hospital (then the Newton Cottage Hospital), likewise was founded by a group of public-spirited citizens and incorporated as an institution "for the care and treatment of sick, disabled and infirm persons."

Our hospital records recount an incident which led directly to the founding of this hospital. A clergyman, the Rev. George W. Shinn, D.D., first seized upon the idea of establishing a home of healing one October night 70 years ago. He and a physician were called to minister to an old woman, friendless and alone, lying ill in her bed. After they had done everything possible for her, they made a midnight search for someone who would take care of her until morning. They finally obtained the services of a kindly woman for the task, but in those days there were no trained nurses to care for the sick and to give the physician an accurate report on the patient's condition.

Not long after this episode a movement to establish a hospital in this area was begun at a meeting of some of the physicians of the city. It was a slow process because people were prejudiced. They harbored old fears and superstitions, born of medical ignorance, concerning the few hospitals then in existence. The building of a hospital was a pioneering undertaking in the 1880's. Contributions for our hospital came in slowly; finally after securing 12 pledges of $500 each, the hospital was opened in 1886, five years from the time of the first meeting.

Medical science surged forward. Within the space of the next thirty years 16½ acres of land were acquired and 24 buildings were erected and paid for. The population in Newton—27,000 when the hospital was opened, more than doubled from 1886 to 1929 when the present main building was completed. Since then the hospital has expanded its area of coverage to include Wel-

Newton Smith College Club Plans Fashion Show Oct. 6

A fashion show and supper, to be held at the home of Mrs. Clark E. Woodward, 101 Homer street, Newton Center, Wednesday, October 6th, at 6:30 p.m., will usher in the 1948-49 season of the Newton Smith College Club.

The fashions shown, kindly supplied by Newton's Misses and Mrs. Apparel Shop of Newton Centre and Auburndale, should appeal to all as they range in size from 9 to 40 and are for all occasions. Club members, their daughters or friends will be the models. They are: Miss Priscilla Chapman, Miss Constance Ford, Miss Charlotte Kennedy, Miss Cynthia Brown, Mrs. William Bassett, Mrs. John P. Eustis, Mrs. John N. Eaton, and Mrs. E. Prentiss Jones. Mrs. Osborne E. Brown will play the piano as the models appear. Mr. McNeilly, manager of the Apparel Shop, will comment upon the clothes worn by the models. Mrs. Albert H. Walker is in charge of the program and Mrs. Robert S. Bolan heads the supper committee.

In the light of medical advancement, the growth of Newton-Wellesley and other voluntary hospitals has been phenomenal, due in large measure to the development of anesthesia, aseptic surgery and scientific medicine. New techniques of diagnosis and treatment require elaborate and costly equipment and skilled, trained personnel, such as can be found only in a large institution where facilities can be centralized and conditions controlled.

With the advancement of medical care, nursing, surgery and treatment, those who can afford it turn to the voluntary hospital as the best place for care when they're sick. And today our hospital, which has expanded from the original 10-bed wooden building to a 230-bed general hospital, is far from adequate to accommodate the greatly increased demands for hospitalization.

The voluntary hospitals have outgrown their humble beginnings. No longer simply the business of the sick poor—who need care and the rich philanthropist who made it possible, they are now a vital part of community life because everybody benefits. Babies are born in hospitals; people are becoming increasingly aware of the benefits of early hospital diagnosis and treatment to prevent or cure disease in the early stages. In many circumstances of illness, proper treatment and care can be given only at the hospital.

Bride Wins Battle of Budget

Pretty Mrs. H., newlywed, knows how to get the most out of every food dollar—and how to please her hearty-eating husband, too. She uses lots of good, fresh milk.

"I asked my Hood Route Salesman," she says, "and he explained how much more nourishing—and cheap—milk is than any other food. Then he gave me Hood's book of 20 easy-to-prepare recipes. Now I take an extra quart of Hood's every day. It goes into soups, main dishes, and desserts, too. And we drink milk at every meal, of course. We 'eat like kings'—we're bursting with health—and, by using lots more milk in our diet, I need lots less money in my food budget!"

More and more people are agreeing with smart Mrs. H. They know that milk gives you more for your money than any other food—and they make sure they get Hood's Milk for quality. ADVT.

FIRE

OCT. 3 to 9

FIRE PREVENTION WEEK

FIRE FIGHTING DEMONSTRATION

Oct. 10 at 2.30 P.M.

Chief John L. Keating of the Newton Fire Department extends an invitation to everyone to attend the Fire Department's demonstration of apparatus, equipment and drilling evolutions which will be held on Fire Prevention Sunday, October 10, at 2:30 P.M. at Engine No. 1, Washington Street, Newton Corner.

The drill team will be under the supervision of Lt. John L. Martin, who is the department's Drill Master.

The significance of Fire Prevention Week should be remembered not just for this week, but every week in the year. During this week everyone should try and eliminate every known fire hazard in their home and place of business. It is our duty to try and make the city of Newton the safest city there is, to live in and work in. With the help of everyone living here we can do it.

One second's carelessness can cause the loss of many lives and of many millions of dollars in property value. One second's carelessness - and your life, your property may pay the penalty! Maybe you don't like being talked to like a forgetful schoolboy but fire destruction is too serious for any soft-pedal appeals. YOU do the smoking; YOU light the fires; YOU pile up the papers, oil soaked rags and inflammable fluids; YOU risk using faulty electric appliances another day and another . . . Of course you don't want to start a fire, or see your property burned to the ground or your families suffering the agony of serious - even fatal burns! But that second's oversight, even though unintentional is all it takes - then it's too late even for repentance!

Chief John L. Keating says:

All rubbish will be collected in every section of the city during the week of October 3 to 9. Please make an extra effort to clean out your cellar, attic, etc., and place in containers, and, if possible, tie loose rubbish in bundles and leave on the sidewalk on the day your rubbish is usually collected.

A Lecture on Christian Science

Entitled "Christian Science: Christ's Christianity for the Present Age" by Robert S. Van Atta, C.S., of Rochester, N. Y.

Member of the Board of Lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass.

To a large and attentive audience which filled First Church of Christ, Scientist, of Newton this evening, Wallace G. Strathern, First Reader, introduced the lecturer as follows:

Friends — on behalf of this church, I bid you a most cordial welcome.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer and Founder of Christian Science, has written in her textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, "Christ's Christianity is the chain of scientific being re-appearing in all ages, maintaining its obvious correspondence with the Scriptures and uniting all periods in the design of God."

Christian Science teaches that the Christ, Truth, is available to each one of us here and now, that no matter what difficulty we seem to face, whether it is sickness, a business problem, fear, or lack, we can be healed and blessed by an understanding of our oneness with our ever-present Father-Mother, God.

In the words of one of our well loved hymns, Divine Science is saying:

"O dreamer, leave thy dreams for joyful waking. O captive, rise and sing for thou art free. The Christ is here, all dreams of error breaking, unloosing bonds of all captivity. He comes to bless thee on his wings of healing; to banish pain, and wipe all tears away; He comes anew, to humble hearts revealing the mounting footsteps of the upward way."

It is of this ever-available way that we shall hear to-night from our lecturer. I take great pleasure in introducing Mr. Robert S. Van Atta.

Mr. Van Atta spoke as follows:

Soon or late, in times of need people look to sources outside themselves for help. When the material senses can see no means of deliverance, when the material power is able to save, the human mind is compelled to look higher, and perceive seeks help from God. As we understand God better, we become more willing to seek His help and are more successful in procuring it.

How wise it is to seek the solutions of our problems in the mental realm rather than the material! Human experience bears witness to that. The solution of problems of business and health, of personal and national relationships, of invention and progress, have invariably been sought through some manner of thought taking. But when the human mind does not know enough, when human experience furnishes no sufficient guide, is there not a higher intelligence present, able and willing to inform, enlighten, and deliver? Indeed there is, and this all-knowing Mind, this unseen but all-pervading Spirit, this almighty divine power, is what is meant by the word "God" in Christian Science.

Christ's Christianity

Christ Jesus brought to earth the revelation of the true God and real man. Some people were ready to receive it, and some were not. They could understand. So God speaks to men in all ages, as the writer of the epistle to the Hebrews states (1:1, 2): "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by His Son."

The right of Christ Jesus to be called the Son of God is proved by his demonstration of divine power. He preached and taught spirituality by word and deed, he healed all types of disease quickly and permanently, and in all ways he proved the supremacy of spiritual power over the disorders and limitations of matter.

The record of Jesus' human life presents him as an obedient child, a good carpenter, and an inspired teacher. He was a humble man, entirely unselfish, and in every way very wise. But more than human goodness, it was his spirituality, his demonstrated oneness with God, which set him apart from all others, and which made him the Christ. His understanding of the truth of being gave him complete dominion over matter.

Jesus taught his followers how to pray with signs following; he revealed the kingdom of heaven within, salvation present and complete, and life indestructible and eternal. The propagation of the Christ-message depended upon the spiritual understanding and devotion of his followers. Thus for generation to another, thus for two hundred and fifty years the sick were healed spiritually. But such was the grossness and materialism of the times that the spiritual meaning of his message was largely lost, and a dormant element of Christianity until Christian Science was discovered by Mary Baker Eddy in 1866.

Christianity for the Present Age

Christian Science is the re-discovery of primitive Christianity. It is restoring healing as an essential part of true religion. Original Christian doctrine is now reduced to a system; the divine Principle of Jesus' work and the cure for the practice of spiritual healing are herein explained in terms adapted to the particular genius of the present age and the urgent requirements of modern times. Religion for the twentieth century must be scientific and practical. To be scientific it must be based on fixed Principle, its exposition must be orderly, its laws ever operative and demonstrable, and its tenets understandable to all.

Mary Baker Eddy, the Discoverer of Christian Science, writes in her book "Miscellaneous Writings": "This age is reaching out towards the perfect Principle of things; it is pushing towards perfection in art, invention, and manufacture. Why, then, should religion be stereotyped, and we not obtain a more perfect and practical Christianity? It will never do to be blind to the times in things most essential, which proceed from the standard of right that regulates human destiny" (p. 223).

The purpose of the lecture is to show how to follow Christian Science meets especially the needs of today, even as it met the needs of yesterday and will meet the needs of tomorrow.

Chemicalization and Leavening

Jesus showed that Spirit is real and matter unreal. This doctrine is revolutionary and upsetting to the human mind. Materialism is frightened and disturbed at the coming of spiritual truth; hence the world's opposition to Christian teaching and practice. The introduction of spiritual truth into human consciousness produces changes, adjustments, and even violent turmoil, which is typified by the agitation of fluids when chemical action takes place—as when an alkali and an acid meet. This upheaval is termed in Christian Science "mental chemicalization." It is the process which goes on in mortal mind and body as belief changes from the material to the spiritual. Chemicalization need not be painful and is indeed a happy experience when one understands that through it a higher manifestation of peace, health, and harmony is won.

Jesus taught the knowledge of true being by figures and parables. He likened the kingdom of heaven to yeast which a woman put into three measures of meal. The chemical action of the yeast causes the flour to ferment, until the entire batch of dough is changed from a heavy, soggy mass to something light, resilient, and fit for human use.

Science, Theology, Medicine

Mary Baker Eddy discovered Christian Science and wrote the textbook, Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures. One function of this book is to explain the spiritual meaning of the Bible. The author herein presents Christian Science, Theology, and Medicine as "means of divine thought" (p. 118), but perverted by material science are represented by the three measures of meal in need of leavening. The Science of Christ is the leaven which is at work in human consciousness, stirring Christians and thinkers of all types, creeds, and professions to examine the fundamentals of their beliefs, and compelling them to a higher basis for which to seek and find the way out of trouble and limitation.

Mortals generally believe that life and intelligence abide in matter, and that matter is real and substantial. This belief is the fountainhead of all the woes that beset mankind. The sick man believes a discordant material body is causing him pain and weakness; the poor man believes himself limited and frustrated by the lack of certain forms of matter; and the sinner looks to matter as the source of his pleasure.

Physical science assumes matter to be real and the source of power. It seeks to understand and explain the universe on this basis. Popular theology conceives man as born into matter, condemned to suffer temptation, sickness, and sorrow, and eventually to die out of matter in order to reach heaven and find God. Material medicine looks for disease in a living material body and administers other forms of mindless matter in hopes of changing a sick body into a well one.

Matter and Spirit

Christian Science exposes the unreality of matter and reveals the reality of Spirit. This is by far the most important contribution that has been made to the welfare of mankind. In nineteen hundred years, Jesus expressed this scientific fact with utmost simplicity when he said, "It is the spirit that quickeneth; the flesh profiteth nothing" (John 6:63). A correct notion of Jesus' statement is found in Science and Health on page 468: "There is no life, truth, intelligence, nor substance in matter. All is infinite Mind and its infinite manifestation, for God is all-in-all. Spirit is immortal Truth; matter is mortal error. Spirit is the real and eternal; matter is the unreal and temporal. Spirit is God, and man is His image and likeness. There is no life in matter; he is spiritual."

This concise statement of basic truth is so profound and inclusive that its author rightly names it "the scientific statement of being." For centuries the physical scientists held to the theory that matter is composed of indivisible atoms, but nowadays almost everyone knows that the atom can be broken up. Matter as such will disappear under the unrelenting search of the physical scientist, but it disappeared absolutely to Mrs. Eddy "under the microscope of Spirit" (Science and Health, p. 264) three quarters of a century ago.

Religion and Science

The Christian Science textbook states (p. 98): "For centuries—yea, always—natural science has not been considered a part of any religion. Christianity not excepted. Even now multitudes consider that which they call science has no proper connection with faith and piety." If faith and piety are not scientific, it means that they are governed by no Principle, express no law, and have no place in systematic knowledge. But the experience of every practicing Christian refutes such notions, for faith and piety, love, hope, and honesty, are the very substance of his being; and he knows from experience that he takes no chances in relying upon these unseen virtues, for they elevate, invigorate, and inspire his entire existence. We must learn, as Mrs. Eddy says, to "attach our sense of Science to what touches the religious sentiment within man" (Miscellaneous Writings, p. 174).

Christian Science does not oppose the study of natural science, but it does teach that only spiritual knowledge is true and lasting; and these lower subjects can no more than hint at the truth of divine Principle, governing its ideas in harmony, grandeur, and beauty. The effect of these scientific studies when rightly pursued is to promote the growth of human thought out of itself, out of that which is mortal, and to introduce the spiritual and permanent sense of existence and harmony. Absolutely nature is spiritual, but material thinking misinterprets nature; whereas, by starting from a higher standpoint, we learn to look "through nature up to nature's God," as it has been said. To the spiritually-minded observer, "The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament sheweth his handywork" (Ps. 19:1).

Healing Experience

A young man had gone to college to prepare himself for larger opportunities and usefulness. He honestly believed that the progress of civilization was fundamentally the progress of material science and invention. He was particularly interested in engineering in its broad sense, life was proud to be entering that profession whose purpose is to direct the forces of

Mary Baker Eddy

The conceptions of material science have undergone profound changes since the discovery of Christian Science, and equally great changes have come about in general theological beliefs. It was a widely accepted dogma among Christians of a century and more ago that God had elected some nature to the use and convenience of mankind.

In college his progress was good; but after graduation he encountered problems which his technical training had not prepared him to solve. There were questions of personal relationships, his mental attitude toward his work, his conception of success. He was sure that he had certain abilities, but no one seemed at all anxious to appreciate and employ those abilities. He became very unsure about what he was to do, and felt little desire to do it. There was a definite sense of limitation and lack, little joy in his work, and almost no progress. He became disillusioned, bitter, and cynical. This young man had been educated to believe that he had a mind of his own, and now it became sadly apparent that this personal sense of intelligence was not able to meet the demands made upon him.

At this point the glorious light of Christian Science came to him. He learned the great but open secret that God is the only Mind and Spirit the only real substance, while matter is but a false mental concept. He learned that to practice engineering or any other vocation successfully he must first practice right thinking. He came to regard himself, not as a creator of anything, but as the active reflection of Mind. Looking to God for intelligence, rather than to the human sense of self, he found that good thoughts, spiritual ideas, and practical wisdom came to him naturally and freely, since divine Mind is universal, ever present, and the source of all right ideas.

What a joy his work then became! Fear, false responsibility, and exhausting intellectual effort disappeared and were replaced by clear perception, sound judgment, and much peace and happiness. This made him a better engineer and led to greater opportunity and rewards. Under the old belief he had thought himself incapable of original work; but by turning to God as the only Mind he found he could make original discoveries and do things which before seemed impossible.

Practical Science

Many Christian young people nowadays, in the course of their college careers, have much difficulty in resolving the conflict between science and religion. Such need recognize that the premise of material science is an assumption, the assumption that matter is a substantial reality entirely apart from the consciousness of the observer. This assumption cannot possibly be proved. In studying material science they are studying phenomena on the basis of this assumption. Then let them note that the reality of right thought is self-evident and needs no proof, and that in studying Christianity scientifically they are studying spiritual substance, which is eternal and the only thing that gives meaning and lasting value to human life.

To such I recommend the study of a paragraph on page 128 of Science and Health, the marginal heading of which is "Practical Science": "The term Science, properly understood, refers only to the laws of God and to His government of the universe, inclusive of matter and the only thing that gives business men and cultured scholars have found that Christian Science enhances their endurance and mental powers, enlarges their perception of character, gives them accurate and comprehensive views, and an ability to exceed their ordinary capacity. The human mind, imbued with this spiritual understanding, becomes more elastic, is capable of greater endurance, escapes somewhat from itself, and requires less repose. A knowledge of the Science of being develops the latent abilities and possibilities of man. It extends the atmosphere of thought, giving mortals access to broader and higher realms. It raises the thinker into his native air of insight and perspicacity."

Theology and Church

The theology of Christian Science presents the church as the expression of God's love for His children. Founded on the understanding of God's present power and willingness to heal disease and meet all human needs, the church is exemplified by an institution which proves its usefulness by awakening human thought from the material dream and educating human consciousness in spiritual understanding and the actual demonstration of healing power in all types of mortal disorder.

This church is devoid of ritualism. Religious history shows that although rites and ceremonies when instituted may have been intended to be outward reminders of God's presence and visible signs of inward and spiritual grace, yet invariably the shadow comes to be mistaken for substance, and ritualism becomes an end in itself. This materializes human thought, and dulls, rather than enlightens, the understanding. The prophet Isaiah raised his voice against ritualistic religion when he said (66:8): "Wherein shall I come before the Lord, and bow myself before the high God? shall I come with offerings with calves of a year old? Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rams, or with ten thousands of rivers of oil? . . . He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God?"

As the true idea of God and man replaces material notions in human thought, fear is destroyed. As fear fades away, hatred, hate, and selfishness go along with it. In the place of these mental tyrants come peace, hope, faith, and love—an abundance of God's angels or spiritual messages. This mental purification, rebirth, or spiritual baptism, communion with Spirit, good, replaces companionship with matter and evil. Atonement is understood as the exemplification of man's natural at-one-ment with God, and the only way to reach it is the giving up of self-will, self-love, self-pity, and all other beliefs and practices not in keeping with man's Godlike nature; and such giving up is no sacrifice at all, because error is self-destruction when the understanding is that sin is really forsaken when the fact is recognized that there is no real pleasure in it. Reform inevitably follows repentance when the illusion of evil is uncovered and the reality of good is recognized.

Through this more spiritual theology, we have, not just a vague hope of future salvation, but the present and practical saving from disease, sin, failure, limitation, injury, and pain.

Our pastor is the Bible and Science and Health, which preach to us, daily and hourly, the pure word of God unspiced by the false leaven of human opinions and material assumptions. Our church is rich because its business is to give. Being a means through which the revelation of God reaches humanity, it is maintained, supplied, and strengthened by the divine Principle. Our church is not a church of spiritual ideas which it embodies and reflects. Its members are not impoverished by supporting it, but enriched. When, through the church, you receive healing from the limitations and limitations of sickness and sin, when you are restored to strength, freedom, and normal activity, when your life is broadened, deepened, and enriched, the church has no need to beg for your support, because your own gratitude impels you to do far more than the personal solicitation of church authorities ever would.

Healing Prayer

When God is seen to be infinite Principle, the prayer of a finite person, there is no need to beg God for favors. Prayer, then, becomes the natural, peaceful, but quietly joyous communion with divine Truth and Love, wherein God's spirit—originating in divine Mind, communicate themselves effortlessly to the individual consciousness.

Prayer is the deep, honest desire to know God and be Godlike, expressed more in daily deeds than in audacious petition. It is the absolute faith that God is all and evil powerless; it is the understanding that Spirit is real substance and matter is false appearance. Prayer is not the meaningless repetition of words or formulas, but the actual realization of the presence of Christ, the consciousness of Truth, operating mentally to correct and destroy error, the beliefs and illusions called disease, sin, and death.

The correctness of one's prayer is attested by the signs which follow. Healing the sick and reforming the sinner through understanding prayer prove the truth of Christian Science. These are the signs which the Master said would follow them that believe or understand. These are the fruits by which the true Christian is to be known. Spiritual healing was the first and most important duty imposed by the Master on his followers; it takes precedence over outward forms of ceremonial worship. It inspires to Christian effort and reveals heaven here and now.

The healing work of Christian Science is a distinguishing feature of this new-old religion. Healing is the sign of Truth which draws the attention of the modern world, arouses the interest of the people, and secures the firm devotion of its adherents.

about life and health. The revelation of true being dawned upon her thought, and again she arose from her bed of pain, healed, but this time she was to enjoy better health ever after than she had before.

Mrs. Eddy was a humble follower of the great Master. She considered herself blessed if found worthy to walk in his footsteps. By forsaking the world of matter beliefs the great revelation came to her that divine Spirit alone is all power, all science or true knowledge, all presence. Thus she found Christ as the true idea of God, present now as of old, and able to heal as readily as in Jesus' time. The Scriptures were alive with new meaning, science and religion were united, and the healing art was elevated from matter to Spirit. For half a lifetime her heart had sought its Redeemer, and now she had found Him.

Calorie Corner to Be A Popular Place

The Calorie Corner is one of the many features of the Harvest Festival to be held at the Newton Centre Woman's Club, Wednesday, Oct. 20. There will be found home prepared food ready for serving in your own home, saving the busy woman time, fuel and bother. As well as food for the grown ups there will be all sorts and shapes of cookies and sweets for the children. There is to be a full course dinner served at the club the night of the Festival. Mrs. Harold R. Jacques is chairman of the Calorie Corner committee and her committee include, Mesdames Alexander Kevorkian, Harry Crocker, William T. May, Victor H. Vaughan, Everett B. Collins and Mrs. Gordon W. Herdman.

The snack bar, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Willard W. Rice will be prepared to serve, through the noon hour, a hot dish, sandwiches and coffee and ice cream for the small fry on their way home from school. This will give people working in Newton Centre an opportunity to come in during their lunch hour, have their lunch and do their Christmas shopping in a leisurely manner. The committee includes, Mesdames Harry E. Moore, Edwin A. Harris, Everett C. Winslow, Robert F. Hayden and Mrs. W. Dean Norris.

Each step seemed to lift him into a clearer atmosphere, where he could understand more of the teachings of Science and Health, and he strove to apply them to his daily life. His moral regeneration progressed steadily, and in nine or ten months he found perfect physical freedom. Every vestige of the disease disappeared, never to return, and he has since enjoyed many years of good health. Moreover, his has been the unspeakable blessing of understanding and serving God, thereby bringing healing to many people.

Positive Good and Negative Evil

Christian Science is based squarely on the fact that God, good, is infinite. The inescapable deduction from this is the correlative fact that evil is not real. Here is the great issue between Christian Science on the one hand and popular theology and material medicine on the other. Certainly if God, good, is the only cause and creator, evil is left without any creator and can only be accounted for as that which seems to be, but is not.

Good is positive and actual, and evil is negative. But this is not the commonly accepted view. Popular theology teaches that evil is a real presence; therefore a good man is one in whom is no evil. You are told that Mr. A. is a good man because he does not drink or smoke, he does not swear, lie, or cheat; he has no bad habits. But no one can be very good only on the basis of what he does not do. His is but a negative goodness; such a one has been wittily described as "good, but greivous for nothing." The ordinary medical view is that disease is a real entity, health is the absence of disease, and the healthy person is the one who has no disease. But who can say that the real health he has is no bad habits? But no one can be very good only on the basis of what he does not do. His is but a negative goodness; such a one has been wittily described as "good, but greivous for nothing."

The great need of the world today is a strong, dynamic sense of spiritual good; a bold, active sense of God's power, with which to oppose and destroy the aggressions and sophistries of evil. We cannot be satisfied with being "good, but good for nothing." We must rather be good for something—good for healing, good to master sin and hate, good by the reflection of God's goodness.

God Our Present Help

Jesus prophesied a great chemicalization which would sweep over the world of human thought. He foresaw "wars and commotions," nation rising against nation, earthquakes, famines, and pestilences, "men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth." (See Luke 21:9-12, 26.) But he added this comforting injunction: "And when these things begin to come to pass, then look up, and lift up your heads; for your redemption draweth nigh" (Luke 21:28).

posed by the Master on his followers; it takes precedence over outward forms of ceremonial worship. It inspires to Christian effort and reveals heaven here and now.

The healing work of Christian Science is a distinguishing feature of this new-old religion. Healing is the sign of Truth which draws the attention of the modern world, arouses the interest of the people, and secures the firm devotion of its adherents.

Regenerated and Healed

The following regenerative experience of a friend of mine is a modern example of the ageless story of the prodigal son. My friend was brought up by a good Christian mother, taught to go to church, and had the benefit of good example; but when manhood came, he left the church, and went into agnosticism. From then on his downward course was rapid. He dipped into all the things that young men believe will make them manly; he tasted sin in almost every form.

Eventually his health failed. As the result of an accident he began to suffer severe pain. The condition grew worse. After a careful examination the physician told him he was suffering, not from the accident, but from the sinful life he had led. Nevertheless he submitted to several operations, but grew gradually worse, and finally was told he was afflicted with an incurable disease called locomotor ataxia, and had only eighteen months to live. My friend had studied to enter the medical profession himself, and he could do no less than believe what his medical advisers told him. Health, hope, and money were all gone; he was heavily in debt, could not work, suffered great pain, and could see nothing ahead but death and oblivion.

A brother had taken him into his home to live. The brother and his wife were students of Christian Science, but my friend would have nothing to do with it. Yet he could not help but see the good it was doing in that home, and one evening he accepted their invitation to attend a midweek testimony meeting in the church. In spite of his antagonism to the healing work of Christian Science, he was seized at this meeting of the severe pain which had harassed him so long.

Unknown to the household he began to read the textbook. To save his pride he would not tell his wife of his new discovery. He had retired, taken the book to his room to read, and carefully returned it to its place before the family arose. Through his reading he learned that God is Life and Love, and that God requires of us but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God.

His antagonism to Christian Science diminished, and he went to a practitioner for treatment. He was told that he could be healed if he would be honest with himself and with God. He gave up all real tobacco, which was not hard to do. Then he was asked to give up swearing, and that habit was discarded. The liquor habit was the next to go; that cost him quite a struggle. Finally it came down to the smoking habit, but there he rebelled. Yet when he saw that even that sacrifice was a small price to pay for health, he took his expensive pipe, tobacco, and the rest of his smoking paraphernalia and put them in the stove.

Each step seemed to lift him into a clearer atmosphere, where he could understand more of the teachings of Science and Health, and he strove to apply them to his daily life. His moral regeneration progressed steadily, and in nine or ten months he found perfect physical freedom. Every vestige of the disease disappeared, never to return, and he has since enjoyed many years of good health. Moreover, his has been the unspeakable blessing of understanding and serving God, thereby bringing healing to many people.

ual power as wonderful as those recorded in the Bible are being repeated today; many of the miracles of olden times are equaled in the experience of Christian Scientists.

Demonstrations of spiritual power are never supernatural, but divinely natural in all ages. God loses none of His power as the centuries roll. Would he bring His people safely through flood, war, and famine in the past only to be destroyed by atomic bombs, submerged and killed by germs of disease in this twentieth century? This we cannot believe. When these things begin to come to pass, look up, not down, and find salvation in Spirit; for God and His healing Christ are with us now, healing is a present possibility, and heaven a fact. Through Christian Science humanity has access to God's love today as never before.

Television is really something! The world series is rapidly approaching; a series that holds extra interest for Bostonians this year. Everyone can't be there in person, but everyone can be there through television. Johnny Sain's curve ball, Jeff Heath's bulging muscles, and Warren Spahn's profile will all be unbelievably clear to you. See the crowd and the popcorn man, make yourself a couple of hot dogs, and by golly you're there! No big hats or waving arms block your view either.

It's pretty grand to see your home team right up on top. You won't want to miss a single play and it's wonderful to know you don't have to. Hale's is all ready, waiting to install a General Electric, Stromberg-Carlson, R.C.A., Motorola, or Farnsworth set before the series. Of course lots of folks are anxious to get theirs, so don't take a chance on being left out. Financing will be arranged to suit you, and in a few short minutes a brand new television set, with all its hours of grand entertainment, will be yours. In the third period Newton's Frank Tanner kicked off to the Rindge 15 yard stripe where the ball went offside. Dick Schultz tackled Rindge's Bill Boudreau on the latters 8 to shove the Tech men back another 7 yards toward their own goal. Two plays later the same Dick Schultz started again for the Orange and Black when he downed Guard, George Najarian behind the latters goal line for a Newton safety, after Najarian copped a lateral from a trapped John Tragellis. The hometown boys moved into position again when Bob Shannon shoved the pigskin to the Rindge 22 for a first down. Dan Coffey slammed through tackle to the 12 for another first down. On an end sweep Frank Tanner carried to the Rindge 6 where Dan Coffey made the score on a quarter-back sneak. Once again Morrissey's try for the extra point was not good.

In the fourth period Newton shoved forward the entire stanza only to be stopped by the final gun on the Rindge 10. Score by periods 1 2 3 4

Present Newton Corner Site Excellent Library Location Survey of Facilities States

14. The present central building repels and frustrates the entire clientele, and the staff who work in it. It has only 25,000 square feet of floor space compared with the standard requirement of 45,000 square feet for a city size. It is particularly inadequate on the main floor, where 20,000 square feet are called for; the present main floor has only 9,500 square feet, badly cut up and inconvenient.

15. That Newton has so many villages with no major shopping center, does not minimize the need for a first class strong central library in a first class building. Every city, even those split through the middle by rivers or other barriers into two almost equally important halves, has found it must have an adequate centralized library plant, efficiently modern. Newton's high per-capita potential for library service, indicates that standard formulas for size and capacity should be met in planning a new central building.

16. The most important factor in the library building project is to get the right location, not only the best general neighborhood, but a strategic piece of ground, 20,000 square feet, directly in the center of the shopping and pedestrian crowd, not on a side street or in a cheap second-rate location; these would be a waste economy. The library's function is to merchandise, free, one of the most valuable commodities in the city, to everyone who can be interested in using print, not to wait simply for those who will persist in getting material at great inconvenience.

17. For a new central library to meet 1948 needs and prepare for another half century, old conceptions of a library must be forgotten, including spacious grounds, a retreat set back from the street, with high entrance steps, etc. The library is a dynamic service plant. It should be designed and planned in the modern efficient manner, with large open spaces, permitting flexibility and frequent changes of equipment and services as needs arise over the years. It should be entered at sidewalk level, come directly to the sidewalk, have large open glassed areas along the front so that passers-by can look in and see their fellow citizens using the library. Such buildings have been erected elsewhere, and are not an enthusiastic fancy of the writer.

18. Of the three major possibilities for central library location, Newton Centre would doubtless in the long run be the best and logical choice. New residential building is going on predominantly in the southern half of the city. However, Newton Corner and Newtonville are also very busy. For some time Newton Centre will have no great superiority over Newton Corner. The population map shows a concentration of people in the mile wide strip along the northern edge of the city: Newton Corner is its focal point. Newton Corner is at present busier than Newton Centre.

to admit them as immigrants is proved by the results of several surveys of camp residents. Australia, Great Britain, France, Belgium, Norway, and Holland have already admitted as immigrants D.P.'s who fill the economic needs of their countries.

"About 85 per cent of the D.P.'s," Mr. Day stated, "are under forty-five years of age. Some 73 per cent of them are members of family groups. Despite all they have had to endure they are a remarkably healthy group. The death rate of camp groups is surprisingly low and the birth rate exceptionally high."

"A report of the occupational skills of 330,000 refugees in assembly centers revealed that the largest proportion are skilled workers in some sixty different occupations," Mr. Day continued. "Agricultural workers make up the next largest group. The professional group includes professors, religious leaders, engineers, lawyers, and artists. Among the women are agricultural, professional—including nurses and teachers—skilled industrial, and domestic workers."

"The World's Alliance of Y. M. C. A.'s and the World's Y. M. C. A. are working with twelve other national organizations in serving D.P.'s as they served prisoners of war. Two functions have been designated as theirs: to conduct activities for the recreational, educational, cultural, and spiritual benefit of all D.P.'s and to maintain an extensive supply program in connection with these activities. In practice this means that the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. conduct religious services, study groups, and special programs in cooperation with religious leaders of various denominations; conduct training schools and courses for welfare workers; present entertainment programs and provide supplies for camp programs; provide meeting places and spiritual and material help to common interest groups such as pastors, professors, national groups; supply summer camps for children."

"While the present federal legislation is a first step in the direction of doing our share to help these deserving people, it is badly in need of amendments," Mr. Day observed. "The number of displaced persons to be admitted to not sufficiently large to deal well with the problem. There

Rotary Club Hears Interesting Talk

Importance of keeping controls of important scientific developments for defense in civilian hands instead of military hands was stressed by Earl Stevenson, speaker at the Newton Rotary Club meeting held Monday noon, September 27, at Brae Burn Country Club.

Mr. Stevenson, president of A. D. Little Company, Cambridge, spoke on the subject "Uncle Sam Goes in for Research." Arnold C. Baker introduced the speaker, and Dwight Colburn, president, presided. Frank "Doc" Simmons led in songs with Louis V. Hafnermehl at the piano.

Announcement was made at the meeting of the official visitation to the club on Monday, October 4, of Wray White of Natick, Governor of Region 197 for Rotary International. All directors and committee chairmen of the club are to meet Mr. White at 11 a.m. at Brae Burn before the regular club meeting on Monday.

Mr. Foster calls attention to the fact that those who retail Carling's products locally are reputable business men, and that they operate under a code of ethics designed to keep their businesses on a dignified high-grade plane and worthy of patronage. He further emphasizes that through license fees and taxes, local dealers in malt beverages are an important source of revenue to the community.

A survey of the newspaper field has convinced Mr. Foster that the community newspaper is an important medium for his advertising, as its localized coverage will enable his company to concentrate its efforts in the areas where they will bring maximum benefit to its local outlets.

Long a popular seller, Carling's products are now packaged in lightweight no deposit non-returnable glass bottles, in both the 12-ounce and the jumbo quart sizes.

New Kitchens Are Available At Burke's

We have heard a number of statements from rocking chair experts as to what this country needs most... such as a good five cent cigar, two champion teams for a Boston subway series, less talk and more action, etc., etc.

However it remains for the housewife to really come up with a good logical idea. Give every woman a modern kitchen so that she may cut the family budget in her cooking and other housework. It seems that the Burke Plumbing and Heating Supply Company at 267 Centre street at Newton Corner ought to be the answer to every woman's prayer because this firm certainly has gone all out to supply the ultra-modern in kitchen, yes, even electric garbage disposals. There are electric ranges to bring exclamations of delight, refrigerators that do about everything but pay the grocer, washers and ironers and even television. By the way girls, if you cannot get world series tickets, your next best bet is a television from Burke's.

Women are interested in savings in the home but men also come into the picture in selecting the heating plant and that is one reason the men look upon the York oil furnace as a friend because this nationally popular plant delivers more heat while consuming less oil. Burke Heating and Plumbing Supply company offers a most convenient budget plan of payment on any of its many modern home supplies.

known for her incisive interpretations of world affairs. She returns to the platform of the Community Playhouse in Wellesley following three months in Europe during which she drove her own car 8000 miles through the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Switzerland, Italy and France.

Miss Avery left Italy just ahead of the gasoline strike and was in France in the middle of the civil servants' strike. She was in Brussels when the Benelux Exposition opened and in the Hague at the height of the European Federation talks.

"Europe is hanging in suspense," says Miss Avery. She has chosen as the theme for her series this year "The World Between Yesterday and Tomorrow." The lectures begin October 13 and continue Wednesday mornings for ten lectures the dates being spaced to avoid adverse weather in December and January. Course tickets may be obtained from the committee chairman, Mrs. Thomas R. Oleson, 10 Livermore road, Wellesley Hills, 82, Mass. or from Mrs. McNamara.

Newton women who already have secured course tickets include the Mes. Lloyd H. Anderson, C. E. Tracy, Sr., W. R. Bell, James H. Zimmer, Ralph D. Conant, Bigelow V. Stoddard, Charles B. Wilbar, David B. Rost, John Underhill, F. Roscoe Webster, 3rd, H. Potter Trainer, Wrightson Christopher, Winthrop A. Clark, Norman McCutcheon, Hubert C. Fortmiller, Warren Ordway and Miss Edith K. Call an electrician when any wiring is to be done around the house. Home-made wiring causes many fires.

Many times it is only necessary to cultivate Safety Habits to make a place much safer from fires starting. It is through the thoughtless disposal of lighted matches and "smokes" that cause the largest number of fires throughout the nation. Taking an extra second to be sure that both of these are "dead" before throwing them away would save lives, jobs, property, natural resources and our recreation grounds. This act in itself may seem a small thing to do, but most fires are small when they start, but left unattended expand exceedingly fast.

The real large fires that make the nation's newspapers are only a small portion of the losses. It is the ever increasing number of small fires that we never hear about that swells the loss of property and lives.

The small fires which are mostly in the homes, the fires that start from carelessness, poor housekeeping, the unnecessary fires that can be prevented, these are the fires that must be stopped in order for our nation to progress.

Consider for a moment a community such as ours to be mostly destroyed with a loss of 10,000 citizens. If such a thing did happen everyone would be talking about it and what could or should have been done to prevent it. But, because usually it is only a life and another somewhere else, we sort of overlook such things as not going to happen here. Really we are too over confident, maybe it will be our home the next time.

Have you checked your home lately to find existing fire hazards, if not there is no better time than right now before it is too late. Fire and Death go hand in hand and grant no favors. The fire hazard that you remedy today may save a life tomorrow.

Let us all make every day Fire Prevention Day and live, instead of regretting it on Memorial Day.

For all fires notify the Newton Fire Department promptly either by telephone, Bigelow 4-0030, or by sounding your nearest street Fire Alarm Box.

position to take action. Since the appointment of other officers rested in the hands of the head of the department, and since an acting head lacked the authority of the fully qualified Chief, the Mayor asked the nominee for appointment if he wished the Mayor to make a special written request of the Board of Aldermen that they suspend the regular rules and act upon his selection of a permanent Chief. The appointee expressed a desire for immediate confirmation through the Mayor's request, and that written request was dispatched immediately.

The status of the matter is that action on the Mayor's request was taken, the Board declining in its official vote to

N. U. Faculty Wives Club Opening Meeting Friday

Northeastern University Faculty Wives Club will hold its opening fall meeting Friday afternoon at 2 in the Milton Lounge of the Student Center, 360 Huntington avenue.

New officers elected for the year are: Mrs. Eliot F. Tozer, Beverly, president; Mrs. Edward L. Parsons Watertown, vice president; Mrs. Arthur A. Vernon, Newton Highlands, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Howard F. Greene, Newton, recording secretary; and Mrs. Saverio Zuffanti, Dorchester, treasurer.

waive its rules and accordingly the matter is automatically and unavoidably tabled until the next regular meeting on October 14, as required by the Board's Standing Rule.

Suspension of the rules calls for three-fourths vote. Only seven voted for suspension. The Mayor cannot interfere with the Board's standing rules.

The procedure of the Mayor seeking to reverse action of the Board of Aldermen would be irregular under any circumstances, but especially irregular with reference to a matter involving appointments. The Mayor accordingly can take no further action in the matter.
